'TIGER' THANKFUL TO AMERICA FOR RECEPTION HERE

Clemenceau Issues Holiday Greeting; Pays Tribute At Lincoln's Tomb.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Georges Clemenceau, touring the United States in an effort to forge closer bonds between this country and France, last night dictated the following Thanksgiving message:

"Deeply touched by the kind reception granted me and the attention given to the delivery of my message, there is much I am thankful for."

The former war premier, who delivered the fourth of a series of addresses here, left today for Springfield, Illinois, to dedicate the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, and deliver a short eulogistic address. Then he goes to St. Louis, arriving Friday morning.

The Tiger's program for yesterday worked out by himself, started with a visit to one of Chicago's biggest packing plants, and ended with a visit to the Auditorium, where as the guest of Mrs. Potter Palmer, his Chicago hostess, he heard Rimsky Korsakoff's Russian fantasia, "Siegneurotchka," "The Snow Maiden," sung in French.

STAYS UP AFTER EIGHT.

He received an ovation as he appeared in the Potter Palmer box, which was draped with the French tricolor and the Stars and Stripes. It was a veritable spree for the Tiger, who usually retires at eight.

After the first act, Edouard Colreuil, French basso, sang the Marseillaise and Cyrena van Gordon, the Star Spangled Banner.

Between abattoir and opera, Clemenceau sandwiched visits to the Chicago Art Institute, the Anderson Galleries and the Marshall Field Museum of Natural History.

At the Anderson galleries, he stood long before Fromentier's painting of Arab cavalry in action. "Ah, those are the Turks," he said.

The Tiger got off one of his bon mots of the day at the Armour plant, through which he was conducted by Laurence Armour.

Standing in the slaughter room where steers were being slain one after another and put on rollers to convey them to the waiting line of dressers, he quoted:

"I've got a little list.
"They never will be missed.
"Well put them on the rollers and send them through the abattoir."

the penalty therefore. The Esch-Cummings bill provides a possible solution, and it appears to me, and I believe to many other students of the transportation problem, that the solution provided there is the only ultimate solution, and that is by widespread consolidation of our railway systems in such fashion as to link up the weaker systems with the stronger systems, to obtain thereby the greatest known efficiency in operation."

EUROPE ARMED CAMP.

Turning to the European situation he said that area was still "an armed camp," and that the tremendous economic waste of holding 3,500,000 men under arms creates a burden not only directly upon the buying powers of the countries affected, but indirectly on the earning power of their people.

"I don't want to discuss the political phase of the European situation in any form," Secretary Hoover continued, "but it is simply the outstanding fact that Europe today is the center of economic instability in the world, and that there can be no recovery, no final recovery of industry and commerce in an atmosphere of war.

U. S. PROSPERS ALONE.

"The fact that we, with our powerful economic strength, have had the good sense to demobilize our army and return our men to productivity, and have been able to a large degree to shake ourselves loose from the thrall of depression throughout the world, shows that we are less dependent on the ebb and flow of international commerce than is often the case."

"We must not assume that the prosperity of the United States is entirely and totally dependent on the recovery of Europe. We can in ourselves of our own energies bring ourselves to a state of prosperity and, regret as we may the slowness of their recovery, it does not follow that the United States is entirely dependent upon them."

DEATH SENTENCE.
ANNOUNCED TO MEN.
Theotokis and Baltazas chatted gaily with Gouraris as the brief final arrangements were made.

Protopapadakis was silent and General Hadjensele wore his usual air of nervousness and restlessness.

The death sentence was delivered by the court martial Tuesday and was communicated to the condemned men, who had previously been removed from Averoff prison, where they had said farewell to their relatives.

Promptly at 11 o'clock, after the administration of the last religious rites, the prisoners were removed in automobiles to the place of execution near Goudi, outside the limits of Athens.

The condemned were immaculately dressed and they showed no emotion as they alighted from the motors and walked to the square formed by the waiting troops. They took places at equal intervals, each man facing his own firing squad of 12 men and refused to be undressed. When the order to fire rang out all fell simultaneously and physicians said that death in each case had come instantly.

The bodies were removed to a nearby cemetery, where relatives attended to the burial rites. Only a small crowd saw the executions.

TRIAL OF PRINCE ANDREW TO BEGIN.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A Renter dispatch from Athens says the trial of Prince Andrew of Greece, who is now in the Greek capital, will be begun shortly. The wife of Prince Andrew also is in Athens.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Advice received in London from semi-official sources in Athens give the report published by the newspapers that the head of the British naval mission, Rear Admiral Aubrey Smith, has departed, leaving his aide in charge. The British minister, Mr. Lindley, left the secretary of the legation in charge.

Fourth Member of Death Gang Sought

LEAFED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30.—Police were making a final search today for the fourth member of a band of automobile bandits who shot and killed Patrolman Koehler and wounded Corporal Fridele in a gun battle here Tuesday. Squads of police were searching the thickets near Lily Chapel, 20 miles west of here, where two members of the gang were captured. One other bandit was killed and it is the belief of the police that the fourth man died from exhaustion.

Two Made Sick By Poisoned Candy

BY UNITED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—An investigation was begun by the police today into the mysterious circulation of poisoned candy among the family of Paul Schweitzer here, resulting in serious illness to two. Mrs. Schweitzer and her son, three years old, became violently ill after having eaten chocolate coated candy, which was found in a box in their apartment several days ago.

Mayor Proclaims Education Week December 3 to 9

Mayor Davis today issued the following open letter:

TO THE PEOPLE OF OAKLAND:—The President of the United States has publicly proclaimed the week of December 3rd to 9th as "American Education Week" throughout the United States, and has recommended its observance as such in all cities and states of our nation.

National Education Week is sponsored and recommended by the American Legion and the National Education Association. Posts of the American Legion in every city and state and the local authorities of this school are co-operating to the end that universal observance of the week may be obtained.

Our schools are the backbone of our nation. The child of today is the man and citizen of tomorrow. In addition to the growing children to whom education is of vital importance, we have a large number of thousands of foreign people coming to our shores, many of these lacking the education which is so essential.

It is to impress upon all the people the importance of education and the training of the newcomers to our shores, and to insure correct instruction of our children, that this great patriotic organization, the American Legion, has joined with the National Education Association.

The members of the American Legion feel that they have given conclusive proof of their loyal citizenship, but they feel further that the service which they have rendered five years ago can be continued, and that it is their duty to work for the continued development and advancement of our country.

Clemenceau Pays Tribute to Lincoln

By HARRY L. ROGERS.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

EN ROUTE TO SPRINGFIELD, ILL. WITH CLEMENCEAU, Nov. 30.—Georges Clemenceau, premier of France, started out today to lay a wreath on the tomb of Abraham Lincoln this afternoon.

"I feel like a man on a pilgrimage to the holy places," said the "Tiger" as he went aboard his private car en route.

Clemenceau regrets that he never met Abraham Lincoln, although as a young man he was well acquainted with General Grant.

"Lincoln is the father of democracy," he said, and he likes to emphasize the fact that Lincoln once said:

"God must have liked the common people better than the others because he made so many more of them."

Pressure has been brought to bear on Clemenceau to put the soft pedal on American domestic questions. He is trying to go easy but when the old fellow has his emotions stirred up he talks very freely.

Water and Power League Is Formed

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 30.—The California State Water and Power League has been organized to fight during the coming two years for the water power bill defeated by the people at the November 7 election. An active body of workers for the principles of public development of public resources is to be formed in every community of the state, according to plans of the league.

TRAIN HITS AUTO, TWO DEAD.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 30.—Capt. J. W. Shaver, 64, and Lincoln Shaver, 62, prominent in steamboat shipping circles here for years past, were instantly killed yesterday when their automobile was struck by an electric train at a grade crossing. Witnesses of the accident say the automobile paused just before reaching the crossing and then plunged ahead in an effort to beat the train.

BACK TO SNOWDRIFTS FOR CHRISTMAS DAY

"Well, Mrs. Barber, I hear you are going back East to spend Christmas with your sons this year."

"Yes, I am. I have been here for four years now, and I declare I am homesick for the sight of a good old snowdrift. I couldn't leave California, though, so I will be back by spring, anyway."

"Well, that will be mighty fine to have a trip in time for Christmas. Your sons will be glad to see you, but it will be lonesome for your daughter and her family."

"Oh, I don't know. I guess she will manage somehow. The trip back East is a Christmas present from my sons. They knew I wouldn't stay away from California for many months, so they told me they would send me a round trip ticket for a Christmas present if I would come."

"How lovely. When do you start?"

"Next week if I can get all ready. I want to show you the new dress my daughter and son-in-law gave me. It's a Christmas present, too, but they gave it to me in time for my trip. I can't wait. They bought it at Cherry's, 515 13th street. My daughter buys most all her clothes there, so she took me out with her and showed me it. It's a nice dress. We are the same size, you know, and I never dreamed it was for me. Cherry's is such a good place, and what my daughter likes best is that on a lady has six months to pay in if they like."

The men's store is at 525 13th street.—Advertisement.

SHRINES LOOTED OF TREASURES OF TREASURES

VIENNA, Nov. 30.—A series of robberies of wayside shrines, private chapels, cross road monuments, and other medieval statuary, is occurring all over Austria. The thefts are so skillfully planned that only carvings and statues of high artistic or historic value are taken, leading the police to believe that they are directed by experts.

Austria is rich in these relics. In remote and lonely places all over the country are rare and wonderful monuments, often dating from the Middle Ages, and some even said to be of Roman origin. In the Tyrol and Styria, particularly, on high passes or on the sites of ancient churches, are to be found reliefs, carvings, statuary or tablets almost priceless to the antiquarian, and these are the foot of this latest gang of plunderers. In one private chapel last week three statues of great value were removed without clew to the thieves. As such things have no general public appeal or sale, it is evident that the depredations are planned by other than common robbers.

The nobility are now the lowest classes in Russia.

Give Your Wife
a Real Present
This Year

one she'll use every day and always be grateful for!

EVERY MAN who is married is struggling over the same question right now—the next Christmas gift for the little wife. Same old question every year isn't it?

You don't feel like getting wildly extravagant, but you want to do something a little out of the ordinary. You're probably thinking: "Oh, if I only could find something real nice, yet something which would be useful as well as ornamental!"

You can, and here it is—

Buy her a Westgate Cooking Cabinet! It isn't expensive, yet it's a beauty. And useful? Say man, you'd look the world over before you found anything that would please her as much and at the same time do her as much real good.

Be a sport! Give her a chance to get out every afternoon—spend more time with the children—get recreation and joy that will add years to her life and brighten her up.

She'll use it every day, and next July she'll be even more grateful to you than when she sees it Christmas.

We'll send one out for her to try, if you wish, but the best thing would be to surprise her with it, then let us send out a demonstrator later to show her how much she can do with it. We'll take all the chances—if she doesn't like it we'll take it back.

It operates from an electric light socket, and in addition to cooking better, pays for itself in food saved by eliminating shrinkage. Furthermore, it's cheaper to operate than a gas or coal stove, because it cooks an entire meal at one time.

GOVERNOR SMALL FREE REGIONAL FILED INDIVIDUAL SENT TO PRISON

Lloyd and 15 Associates Are Released After Few Days in Penitentiary.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Freedom and thanksgiving arrived almost simultaneously for William Brown Lloyd, wealthy radical and 15 associates, who are at liberty today after serving eight days of their sentences for violation of the Illinois anti-syndicalism act.

Governor Len Small commuted their sentences late yesterday. Shortly before 11 o'clock last night Lloyd and the six others sentenced to Joliet Penitentiary for one to five years walked from the prison. Three hours later the nine men confined in the Cook county jail, all sentenced to serve one year, were released.

Besides those released at Joliet were Jack Carney, Arthur Proctor, Edgar Owens, Ludwig Lore, L. K. England and Nels Kjar. These freed from the county jail were Samuel F. Hankin, James A. Meisinger, Karl F. Sanberg, Charles Krumbein, Samuel Ash, N. J.

Spiked Neckband Of Steel Used to Strangle Soldier

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Slowly strangling to death by a spiked steel collar, which had been clamped around his neck, Private Walter V. Ashwell, coast artilleryman at Fort Scott, staggered into the Letterman general hospital yesterday, pleading for aid.

Before the instrument of torture could be removed, 4 plumbers saw had to be secured to cut through the metal.

According to the soldier's story he was walking through the Presidio when he was attacked, overpowered and dragged into the presidio woods. There, he said, his assailants beat him and fastened the collar around his neck. At first surgeons at the hospital attempted to cut through the band with medical saws, but this was unsuccessful.

Ashwell denied reports that a lover affair and jealousy of a soldier rival was responsible for the attack. He insisted that he knew of no motive for the assault.

Christianson, John Vogel, Morris A. Stolar and Perry Shipman. Lloyd was waiting at the prison gates for her husband in the family limousine, accompanied by Robert Howe, Lloyd's secretary. "Well, Bill!" Howe queried, after the interchange of greetings, "how'd you like it?"

"Great," replied Lloyd. "It's a good rest—would be for a tired business man."

Lloyd said he believed prisoners who couldn't maintain friendly relations with their guards were persons who were always in trouble.

"I remember at college," he said, "there were some men who couldn't get along with certain teachers, and I found those teachers fine. Well, it's the same down here."

In announcing executive clemency for the convicted men Governor Small said he was in accord with the dissenting opinion, written by Justice Orrin N. Carter, who questioned the constitutionality of the law.

LEGISLATION ON BOOZE CASES IS URGED BY HARDING

Congestion of Prosecutions
On Court Calendars Requires Congress Action.

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The extreme congestion of prohibition cases pending in American courts—enabling bootleggers to continue illicit operations indefinitely—will be placed before congress, it was learned today.

President Harding now expects to present in his formal message opening the regular session next week some of the startling facts on the situation which have been furnished him by the department of justice.

These facts, obtained by the United Press from the justice department, are:

1—There are 20,000 prohibition cases now pending in federal courts of the country with more piling up all the time.

2—This is twice as many as at this time last year.

3—Despite the order of Attorney-General Daugherty to speed prosecution with all celerity, it appears probable that some change of system must be found.

The latest figures compiled accurately are those of June 30, 1922, when 16,713 criminal and 2639 civil prohibition suits were pending. These compare with July 1, 1921, when 10,473 criminal and 2074 civil suits were on the docket.

On the basis of these figures, authorities of the department now estimate that the number will reach 20,000 in further increases every day.

With a continuance of this situation in a few years, it will be practically impossible to bring a bootlegger to justice within a number of months and perhaps a year or more after he had been arrested and released on bond.

of Nutting's say there was a third child, a crippled son.

According to Mrs. Coveney, he never mentioned his family to her again, or gave any explanation at the time concerning his separation from them.

Several months before his death Nutting handed his will to W. J. Moorehead, president of the Eastern local of the Carman's union, telling him that he wanted Moorehead to administer it whenever this should become necessary. His estate consists of cash, Liberty bonds, and insurance, amounting to $4000. Moorehead has received, by telegram, permission of Mrs. Nutting for him to administer her husband's estate in her behalf, and attend to the settling of his affairs.

Couzens to Remain
Railway Manager

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
DETROIT, Nov. 30.—Detroit may have a United States senator as general manager of its municipal traction system after next Monday.

Mayor James Couzens, appointed yesterday to fill the unexpired term of Truman H. Newberry, has indicated his willingness to continue at the head of the city railway system he established and acting Mayor John C. Lodge and the street railway commission have agreed.

This was one of the biggest undertakings of his administration and he has planned for its further development.

U. S. Oil Yield Drops,
California Increases

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States ending November 25, totaling 1,637,400 barrels compared with 1,645,300 barrels for the preceding week, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute.

The daily average production east of the Rocky Mountains was 1,182,400 barrels, as compared with 1,195,300 barrels, a decrease of 12,900 barrels. California production was 455,000 barrels, an increase of 5000 barrels.

Mid-continent crude oil is quoted 90c to $1.30 a barrel, according to the gravity of the oil. Pennsylvania was quoted at $3.00 a barrel and Gulf coast at $1.25.

According to figures collected by the American Petroleum Institute, imports of petroleum (crude and refined oils) at the principal United States ports for the week ended November 25 totaled 1,697,047 barrels, a daily average of 242,435 barrels, compared with 1,906,881 barrels, a daily average of 272,411 barrels for the week ended November 18.

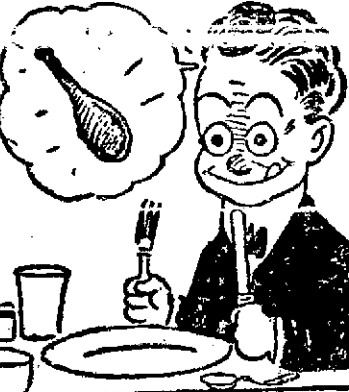

Filipinos Plan
Mission to U. S.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
MANILA, Nov. 30.—It is expected that the independence commission, composed of all members of the Philippine legislature, will send to Washington a special mission of perhaps five members to urge its cause. The present proposal is for congress to authorize the Philippine legislature to call a constitutional convention for laying the foundation of a future independent republic in the Philippines.

The mission will request the necessary legislation in Washington. The Philippine legislature recently passed a resolution providing for this action.

HIGHWAY BOARD DEFIES WARNING OF RICHARDSON

Commission Says Work Will Continue Under Old System.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 30 (By the Associated Press).—Members of the State Highway Commission have issued a statement in answer to another issued Tuesday by Governor-elect Franklin D. Richardson, in which the latter attacked the road policy of the commission and intimated that contracts were being let without sufficient funds in the treasury to meet them. The statement of the commission says:

"There still remains unsold at the present time $16,000,000 of State highway bonds. These bonds are available as required."

It has been the policy of the Highway commission since the beginning of the work in 1912 to sell bonds from time to time as the money was needed to carry on the work, and this policy is not only legal, but is in line with good business practice and has saved to the State hundreds of thousands of dollars in interest charges.

NEEDLESS INTEREST.

"To adopt the plan advocated by Richardson in his statement and sell sufficient bonds before letting a contract to completely pay for that contract, notwithstanding the fact that most of the money would not be required for many months, and perhaps even a year would result in subjecting the State to the payment of hundreds of thousands of dollars of unnecessary interest charges annually. It is difficult, indeed, to harmonize a policy of that character with a program of either efficiency or economy."

"The California Highway commission will turn over to the Richardson administration a highway system in good condition and well maintained. The responsibility for all new construction, as well as for the proper maintenance of the present system, will rest solely with him and cannot be avoided or shifted."

"A splendid highway engineering organization has been built up, composed of some of the best engineers in the country, and it is to be hoped that the same freedom from politics in connection with the highway forces may be continued in the future."

NO CHANGE IN PLAN.

"The commission is carrying forward the highway work in a regular and orderly fashion, and will continue to do so until the new administration takes charge. The commission will have no real reason for stopping the work at this time, nor would such procedure be for the best interests of the State."

"It is to be regretted that he deems it necessary to resort to political tactics of this character. A little less politics and a little more constructive effort on his part would be in better taste and more conducive to confidence and of greater value to the State at large."

Becker Murder

Mystery Solved

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(By International News Service).—A story of sordid and guilty relations lies behind the murder of Mrs. Abraham Becker, whose death has been cleared up after six months' mystery.

Mrs. Becker disappeared from her home here last April. The confession of Reuben Norlin, friend of Becker, a chauffeur, led to the discovery of the body last night, buried under six feet of refuse in a vacant lot.

District Attorney Edward Glennon, of Bronx county, said he would seek Becker's indictment on a charge of first degree murder. Becker was infatuated with a younger woman, Becker and Norlin are under arrest.

Mith-Rite Will Close Busy Year With Fall Hop

MISS LOIS YOUNG who will assist Mith-Rite fall hop committee.

Berkeley Tennis Clubhouse To Be Scene of Function With Symbolic Settings.

The Mith-Rite, East Bay Chapter, will wind up a successful year with a fall hop, at the Berkeley Tennis Club, Saturday evening.

The committee, consisting of D. M. Parkhurst, Jr., chairman; Earl J. Collins, Henry McNeil, Kenneth M. Reid and Arthur LaCoste, plan that this affair shall eclipse all others in the past. Miss Lois Young will assist the committee as hostess.

Elaborate settings have been arranged in the decorative arrangements, symbolic of the fall season.

CHORUS GIRL TO WEAR SILK HOSE AS LEGAL TEST

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Miss Ruby Adams, a member of the "All King chorus, is wearing a pair of lacy silk stockings to decide a point of law for Justice of the Peace Thomas F. Prendergast. The case in litigation is that of Salvatore Bonen, New York, manufacturer of silk stockings, against M. Gershon, proprietor of a local novelty shop. Bonen, through his local attorney, stated that Gershon had refused to pay for a shipment of stockings. Gershon argued that the stockings were not durable, that it was necessary for a woman to stretch the stockings tightly upon her legs or the effect of the pattern would be lost, and that the stockings would not stand this strain. Miss Adams was called and given a pair of stockings to wear for one day as a test. The judge's decision will depend upon whether or not the stockings rip.

Lily Oelrichs May Marry Royal Duke

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Reports recently reached here from Berlin that Miss Lily Oelrichs, daughter of the Duke of Mecklenburg, has divorced her husband. Following these reports comes the rumor that the Duke of Abruzzi has offered her his hand in marriage. The duchess of Mecklenburg visited here this summer, accompanied by her son by her first marriage, Charles M. Oelrichs, whom she placed in the Agricultural School of U. C. at Davis.

PUBLIC CONTROL OF MILK SOUGHT BY HOUSEWIVES

Stability of Market, Prices,
Quality Would Result,
Says League President.

A request that the State Legislature put milk in the class of public utilities, and its distribution and price under public control, is to be made by the States Housewives League, according to Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon of Berkeley president of that organization.

The plan of the housewives to make this action, Mrs. Cleverdon said, is the result of the recent milk war, in which an alleged attempt on the part of the San Francisco milk producers to force Alameda county dairymen and dealers into a combination, brought about a cut-rate war that lasted three months, involved losses of thousands of dollars, and was followed by a raising of milk prices throughout the bay district.

CITY CONTROL AIM.

"A state law declaring milk a public utility would end for all time the jockeying of milk prices by financiers who are trying to gain control of the milk industry," Mrs. Cleverdon said.

"Once we get this law passed, we will ask that production of milk be controlled by municipal officers, and that the city take over the responsibility for the distribution of milk."

"There will be no fight then, and the dairymen will get a fair price for his milk."

"Where we now have 25 pasteurizing plants in the Eastbay district, each working only an hour or two a day, we can then have one or two plants working full time, and thus effect a tremendous saving on overhead."

STABILITY CLAIMED.

"The city already pays for the inspection of milk."

"The municipality could then select dairymen to supply its milk on contract for a period of four or five years. This would stabilize the production of milk, and make possible the sale of good, wholesome milk at a fair price."

FOOD SALE POSTPONED

RICHMOND, Nov. 30.—The food sale announced by the Ladies' Aid of the First Methodist Church, December 1, will be held on December 8, it was decided yesterday by the committee in charge. It was believed the first date would bring the affair too close to Thanksgiving.

CHILD TRAVELS ALONE ACROSS HALF A WORLD

13-Year-Old Ethel Torma
Reaches Oakland After Long Trip.

To be 13 years old, to have lived through war and revolution, and then to travel by yourself all the way from Budapest, Hungary, to Oakland, Calif., and find loving hearts awaiting you—there is adventure enough to last for the rest of life!

Such has been the experience of a little dark-eyed Magyar maiden, Ethel (Melania) Torma, who arrived in Oakland yesterday to become the adopted daughter of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Andre Torma, of 3316 Arkansas street, Oakland.

Ethel's mother, in far-away Budapest, is in poor health, and for that reason the child has been adopted by her relatives in Oakland, whose name she has also taken. Up to the present she has been called "Melania," but seeing that she is to grow up an American, her foster parents have changed that name to Ethel.

Ethel's parents in Hungary are of the well-to-do class, and she has not known the depths of actual want from which so many of the poorer classes in Hungary have been suffering since the war. Ethel speaks only Hungarian and a few words of German, and Mrs. Torma's first care is to see that she learns English.

The little traveler, who left Budapest on November 4, said that everyone was most kind to her on the voyage. She vividly remembers the war and the scenes in Budapest in the revolution that followed. The matter of her adoption by Mr. and Mrs. Torma was a complicated one, the papers having to be sent to and fro between Hungary and the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Torma were assisted by C. J. Malley, ticket agent in Oakland for the Southern Pacific company, and by J. A. Cullen, chief clerk in the Oakland ticket office of that company, in bringing the child to this city.

ROMANCE.

LONDON.—Because the girl's mother got a writ forbidding the marriage of Miss Ada Rodgers, 18, and Cyril Selby-Lowndes, 45, the latter has declared the romance ended.

Hello, California! Here's 13-YEAR-OLD ETHEL TORMA, who has arrived all the way from Budapest, Hungary, at the home of her Oakland rela- tives. She made the trip alone.

Douglass Murder

Trial Continued

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The jurors in the case of Mrs. Lucille Douglass, on trial charged with the murder of William Chad-dan in her home, 593 Miuna street, were unanimous yesterday in deciding on a continuance of the case until tomorrow. The prosecution and defense finished their arguments last evening, but the jury, not wishing to be locked up over Thanksgiving, voted to return Friday morning for instructions and to begin deliberations to decide Mrs. Douglass' fate. The trial was held in Judge Louis Ward's court.

ALAMEDA'S VOTE GIVES VICTORY TO SEAWELL

With Only Four Small
County Ballots Out He Leads By 3600.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Alameda county's vote has given Judge Emmett Seawell of Sonoma county the victory over Judge William A. Sloane of Los Angeles in the contest for associate justice of the supreme court. In the opinion of Albert E. Boynton, chairman of the Republican state central committee, Kerrigan, who heads the list of judges, is of course elected.

The vote of Alameda county gives Seawell a lead of 3691. Only the votes of Amador, Del Norte, Glenn and Mariposa are missing. These four counties cannot change the result, if all should go for Sloane. It is held likely that Seawell will carry all four.

With the four counties yet to be officially heard from, the figures on associate justice, as tabulated by Boynton, stand: Kerrigan, 367,856; Seawell, 344,587; Sloane, 346,995, and Shurtleff, 224,474.

The official figures from Alameda county which changed the results, were: Kerrigan, 45,743; Seawell, 40,861; Shurtleff, 27,089, and Sloane, 28,521.

Pacific Mail Liner

In Crash in South

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The Pacific Mail liner, Newport, bound for South America, and the steam schooner Svea, collided yesterday off Port San Luis, 15 miles from San Luis Obispo. The accident happened in a heavy fog. The Svea was towed into San Luis Obispo. The Newport went on to San Pedro. No one was injured in the accident. The Newport's bow was slightly crumpled and the Svea was considerably damaged.

HARRIS KILLED QUIST FOR COIN IS ONE SOLUTION

Others Believe Dr. Rubal
Ottoman Guilty; Many Angles Found.

"Knott hired Harris, the butler, to kill Quist. The motive was to avenge the death of his father, Napoleon Knott, Sr., and for financial gain. Knott is secretly married to Miss Amick. Harris and Miss Amick were to receive legacies by Quist's will, which they knew of. Among Harris' effects is money and memorandum implicating Knott in the murder.

"Knott has received from Harris for blood money paid him. Harris mixed the poison with stomach powders that Quist was in the habit of taking. Knott shot Harris with a poisoned needle."

Such is the answer of H. L. Carter, of 1155 East Twenty-fourth street, to the question "Who Killed Quist?"

Fifty dollars in cash and 100 tickets to the T. and D. theater are prizes offered to 53 TRIBUNE readers for the best solution. Replies of less than 100 words should be mailed to Quist, Oakland TRIBUNE.

W. M. Belink, of the Belink Ball Library, 408 Fifteenth street, says:

"I am taking a great interest in the Quist mystery. I think that Dr. Rubal Ottoman is the guilty party."

Mrs. H. J. Hart, of 659 Alleen street, says that Miss Amick and Peter Lowry, her husband, alias Invisible Fingers, are a pair of scheming adventurers and that they did the killing to get the Quist millions.

"Learning of Quist's habit of thumbing the leaves of a book, Lowry doctored this book so that Quist would transfer the poison to his mouth. From behind the honeysuckle vine, he shot Harris. He is now trying to get Quist's millions, who stands between him and the millions."

Phinkett Dillon, of 344 Pillow building, Richmond, says that Ottoman jabbed a stickpin covered with "teak," an Indian poison, into Quist's heart. The motive was to get the Quist millions.

Other clever solutions received are from: Mrs. Theodora Munn Bell, 2107 Lincoln avenue, Alameda; Garrett Bell, Alameda; Genevieve Webb, 653 Thirty-second street; J. H. Holmes, 422 Colusa avenue, Berkeley; Agnes S. Love, Hornitos; Lillian Laing, 2528 San Jose avenue, Alameda; Mrs. E. P.

LOCAL VOCALISTS WILL ENTERTAIN

TONIGHT ON KLX

Special Thanksgiving Concert
Arranged by Ernest
Muse's Students.

One of the most varied and elaborate vocal programs any radio station in the west ever attempted to broadcast will be put on the ether waves tonight from radio KLX, The TRIBUNE'S station, between 7 and 8 o'clock. The affair will be a special Thanksgiving concert, arranged by Miss Thelma Werli, a soprano student from the school of Ernest Muse, prominent vocal teacher of Oakland. She will be assisted by three other vocalists from the same institution.

The classical program this evening will be the first of a series being arranged by Miss Werli, selecting her talent from the most advanced students of Ernest Muse, who has developed some of the best vocalists of the west.

All of those selected for this evening's concert are rated as first-class artists. They are Miss Norma Jones and Miss Wanda Frendrup, sopranos, and Cleve Miller, Miss Werli, who is arranging the program, and who entertained several months ago from KLX, will also sing three classical numbers. The artists will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Vira Parker.

The complete program will be found under the "KLX" schedule.

RADIO INTERESTS MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—News-paper reports that a concert given recently in San Antonio, Texas, was plainly audible to a select gathering in Mexico City by means of the radio telephone, have created great local interest in this newest means of communication.

Numerous inquiries have been made at government departments and of merchants as to the cost and delivery of the necessary apparatus to equip private plants. Hitherto there has been but scant interest in Mexico in radio, although for several months a local newspaper has maintained a plant which picks up many press messages, particularly those furnished ships at sea by the United States navy department.

Five Probationers Are Awarded Caps

Five young women from Alameda county, probationers at the Stanford school of nursing, are among 41 who were awarded their caps at exercises yesterday in the auditorium of the nurses' home, San Francisco, which changed their status to student nurses.

They are Miss Edith L. Eckles and Miss Hulda Luchau of Oakland, Miss Doris H. Soderwall, Alameda, and Miss Anne Meyer and Margaret M. Mueller of Berkeley. The young women began their training August 1, and were to have received their caps on December 1, and yesterday's action had not been anticipated.

MOVIES DEPICT MUNICIPAL CAMP IN HIGH SIERRA

Jay Nash Urges More Play-ground Equipment For Oakland Youth.

Motion pictures and slides, illustrating scenes in the Oakland Municipal Camp and Playground in the Sierra, and in the various parks and playgrounds of the city, were shown yesterday to the members of the Lions' club at luncheon at the Hotel Oakland. Jay Nash, superintendent of the city playground department, delivered an address in explanation of the pictures.

Nash pointed out the value of the playgrounds in keeping the children off the streets, and in their reducing the long roll of traffic accidents. He showed pictures of a type of playground equipment which is inexpensive, and can be easily installed in the back yard.

Among the pictures thrown on the screen was one of the stadium at Tacoma. Nash said that the lack of such a stadium is felt by the athletic youth of Oakland. The pictures illustrating the Oakland municipal camp in the Sierra, where children and adults can spend a wonderful vacation at exceptionally low rates, which include transportation, were received with hearty applause by the gathering. Nash emphasized the fact that this was not a charity camp, but that donations are welcomed towards a fund which is used to help children attend the camp, when they are unable to raise the entire amount for the trip.

K. K. Klonocon At Atlanta Ends

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 30.—(By Associated Press.)—The Imperial Klonocon of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan came formally to a close here early today. A new constitution, with a clause forbidding the Klan to affiliate with any women's organization and carrying a penalty of banishment from the "Invisible Empire" for anyone who aids in such organization, was adopted.

One of the most important features of the new constitution provided that the Imperial Wizard hereafter shall be elected by the grand dragons, or state chiefs of the order. The term of office was fixed at four years.

It is Never Too Late to Learn That Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Put the Stomach Right. And nothing at hand to give relief. After two or three days you got over it. It took that time for the stomach to right itself naturally. But why go through such misery? If you take one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating you can have pie and cheese, doughnuts, baked beans, steak and potatoes, sausage and so on for your three meals a day and not have a sour stomach with gas, belching, fullness, pressure and the misery that comes from it. The reason is that these tablets supply the stomach with the acid, hence the stomach becomes calm and sweet. If you fear you are a chronic dyspeptic and afraid to eat get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets or any druggist and get back into your eating stride.—Advertisement

FULTON

Romance reigns on the stage at the Fulton theater this week in the production of "When Knighthood Was in Flower." There is an abundance of color and life and movement in this drama and the atmosphere of the "Days of old" is accurately produced in the Fulton's production. Isabelle Lowe makes a dashing "Princess Mary." Her gown will interest the ladies in the million for they are numerous and of lavish richness. Almost everybody knows the story of "Princess Mary" and her loves, as narrated in Charles Major's famous book "When Knighthood Was in Flower." The play follows the book closely.

Around the tempestuous "Princess" there revolves in the play, many characters who are familiar in history. The management announces that a special Thanksgiving day matinee will be given on Thursday. Next Sunday evening, "Little Miss Marjorine," a play written by Isabelle Lowe herself.

NEW BROADWAY

Offering a galaxy of screen stars, two feature screen attractions at the New Broadway theater today and tomorrow will provide an unusual brand of entertainment. "Caught Bluffing" will bring Frank Mayo and an all-star cast, while novel, "The Three Corners of the World," Gibson and Marjorie Daw as co-stars.

STATE

The new show which opened at the State theater yesterday is attracting large crowds for one of the biggest motion picture productions of the year is being shown. "I Was Queen," starring Ethel Clayton, is the attraction. Adapted from Du Vernet Rabell's famous novel, "The Three Corners of the World," a powerful story of love, behind a throne it proves a romantic sensation. Ethel Clayton in the title role achieves the greatest success of her career. The vaudeville bill is headed by May and Kilduff in a comedy skit, "The Limb of the Law." The Elton Johnson Revue is a snappy song and dance surprise presented by three pretty girls, while Harry Freeman and Lew West present a merry mixture of songs, dances and piano playing. "Fascination" is a musical satire set to music with Billy Melbourne as the star.

CURTAIN CALLS

By WOOD SOANES

"On behalf of my partner—Miss Wolfus—Miss Hilda Wolfus, and myself, my name being Williams—Herbert Williams, I wish to give thanks for many things." The speaker is Herbert Williams, king of the high art of hokum, who is headlining the bill at the Orpheum and is celebrating Thanksgiving Day by rejoicing over the fact that it was in this city that he played his first big-time engagement. "In 1907 I was playing the piano in a small picture house in Dayton, Ohio," said Williams, "and my wife, Miss Wolfus, was the telephone operator. Immediately after we married we decided to take a honeymoon trip at the expense of some vaudeville circuit. "We booked a polite singing and piano playing act, but we were so amateurish that the audience thought it was funny and laughed with us into the night. This situation continued for three weeks and then it suddenly stopped."

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Announcement was made today that the Tivoli Grand Opera Company is to play a brief engagement at the Macdonough theater. The Tivoli Grand Opera Company is now on tour.

"We couldn't understand why the act was failing. Then it suddenly struck us that the folks wanted us to be an amateurish act as we were when we first went on, so we changed our polite musical act to a low comedy offering. "All this time we were traveling toward the Pacific coast, but on the smallest of small time. Finally we arrived in San Francisco and got some bookings from Harris & Ackerman. We were booked finally into the Majestic Theater, where John J. MacArthur was located as manager."

"During the week we were there a society woman of prominence in San Francisco got stage-struck and induced the heads of the Orpheum and current, Martin Beck and others to make her try-out at the Majestic. It was our great opportunity, although we knew nothing about it. "Beck and the other directors

NEW PIEDMONT

"The Prisoner of Zenda" opened a three-day run at the New Piedmont theater yesterday. Alvin Terry, Lewis Stone, Barbara Linn and Stuart Holmes have been entrusted with the leading roles in the production. "The Prisoner of Zenda" has proved popular wherever shown, and at the New Piedmont theater yesterday again demonstrated its ability to draw a large audience. Next Sunday evening at 7:30 the Philharmonic Concert orchestra under the leadership of Mischa Gussach will give another of their grand concerts in the New Piedmont. Signor Pignoli, a favorite basso, will be the soloist for the evening. The program includes "The Armorer's Song" from "Robin Hood."

CHIMES

Today and for this day only, Little Viola Dana will be seen in "The $5 Baby," from the story by Irvin Cobb, at the Chimes theater. Dana is a girl of unusual personality and appears in a role that affords her more than her customary opportunity for joyous comedy. Miss Dana is supported by a selected cast. A screaming comedy and a Pathe News make up the balance of the offering. An unusually heavy bill is offered for Friday and Saturday, December 1st and 2nd, namely "When Romance Rides" by Zane Grey, and "The Sleep Walker."

saw our hokum act, liked it and we got our first big-time booking. We opened right here in this theater and have been Orpheuming ever since with the exception of a short season in "What's in a Name?" a Broadway review. "An act seven years ago they have been on the big-time Williams and Wolfus have made but few changes in their routine. This public demands the call for "spot-light," the recitation of about "Hark, Hark, Hark." There is one difference, however—in 1911 Williams and Wolfus were "among those present"; now they headline. And yet they have not changed personally. They rejoice in the laughter of the crowd, but lay it not to their own cleverness, but to the fact that the public likes "hokum." There is no "swelled head" here.

"Austin Strong, author of 'Seventh Heaven,' one of the current dramatic hits on Broadway, has appeared in a new role—that of an actor—the other night. It all happened in this way, according to those in the know: Strong has been around the theater for years, but has never braved the glare of the footlights. Last week, however, John Golden, producer of 'Seventh Heaven,' was out of town and Strong came in. Someone had to play the role of the skipper of Heloise, the taxicab that stopped the Prussian guard at the Marne. For a time it looked panicky around the theater. Then Strong came to the front, donned Druce's costume, went on in the part and nobody was any the wiser.

"The Exciters" has been secured for stock production at the Fulton theater, according to announcement. Grace George is taking "To Love" out of the Bijou theater in New York for a tour. The first stop is Philadelphia, the second Chicago and then the west. With her are Norman Trevor and Robert Warwick. Today is not only Thanksgiving day, but the birthday of a rare old comedian of the comic opera school. In San Francisco in 1853 Jefferson de Angelis first saw the light of day. He was last here with the New Bostonians at the MacArthur Theater.

In leaving New York, Miss George is following her established practice of paying in the leading cities each season. No announcement has yet been made as to the successor of "To Love." There are about a dozen plays waiting to get in. All the Japanese colony in New York is excited over the announcement of T. T. Tamamoto, the valet of "Turk 100," that he is the handball champion of New York.

Film Actress Speeder Wilds

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—Twenty-eight more speeders were sent to jail by police judges here yesterday, bringing to 250 the total number to receive jail sentences in the campaign begun ten days ago to abolish reckless driving by giving offenders terms in the city jail. Among the offenders were Miss Sterling, motion picture actress, who was sentenced to serve five days for driving 37 miles an hour, and A. B. Ketchell, a member of the Hollywood high school faculty, whose speed of 29 miles brought him a sentence of two days.

A suspended sentence of two days was imposed upon Harold Hartengen, who admitted traveling 28 miles an hour, but declared he was going to his mother's death in bed.

Miss Sterling argued in court that she was driving only 35 miles an hour, but subsided when it developed she had no driver's license and was fined $10 for that, in addition to being sent to jail.

Then she bemoaned the fact that she had prepared an elaborate Thanksgiving feast and demanded: "When can I begin serving my sentence? I want to get this over as soon as possible."

A short time afterwards Miss Sterling was set to work mopping floors in the woman's ward of the jail.

PEANUT WAGON MORE DEADLY THAN AN AUTO

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—Thomas S. Harrison, 68 years old, who escaped unhurt three weeks ago when he was run down by an automobile, was fatally injured last night when he was bumped by a peanut wagon. He died soon after being taken to the receiving hospital, where police surgeons said he had suffered a broken hip and internal injuries.

TRANSIT FIRM'S STRAITS BRIDGE PLAN APPROVED

Oakland Chamber of Commerce Casts Vote For Erection of Structure.

Approval of the San Francisco Transit Company's proposal to erect a suspension bridge over Carquinez Straits was voted last night by the directors of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce. The resolution recommends that the supervisors of Contra Costa county grant a franchise for the erection of the bridge.

The Oakland Chamber of Commerce is the thirty-ninth organization to place itself on record in favor of the project. The Transit company's plan was endorsed after the highway committee of the chamber of commerce had examined all other plans for the bridge. Special reasons advanced for selecting the Transit company's plan were that it has received the war department's approval; that this company is prepared to build the bridge quickly, and that it has all its plans and specifications ready. The plan provides for spanning the straits between Berkeley and Dillon's point, a distance of 3000 feet, by a suspension bridge 135 feet high. The bridge is to cost $2,500,000, and will be ready in 1924. The Contra Costa supervisors will consider the franchise application December 11.

Women's Clubs Plan Annual Breakfasts

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Christmas festivities will be featured on the club programs of the coming week with breakfasts claiming attendance of at least two groups. Lakeview Club has announced its annual breakfast for Monday in St. Paul's parish house, honoring particularly Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald, president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, and leaders in clubdom of the Eastbay. Marionettes, pantomime, a feature play and music will mark the later program which is being directed by the music section.

Harvey Miller officiating. A large number of friends and relatives were guests.

William Hatch was best man for the bridegroom and the attendants upon the bride, Miss Gene Mason, matron of honor, and four bridesmaids, the Misses Margaret Cunningham, Julie Leonard, Felice Elliott and Olga Scheurman.

Baby Ellen Lognesse, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

The bridal couple will turn the south in a fortnight and sail for the Hawaiian Islands.

MANY ATTEND MORNING WEDDING.

St. Anthony's Catholic church was the scene of a large wedding at 10:30 o'clock this morning when Miss Eileen Dolores Murphy became the bride of Thomas Joseph Sullivan of San Francisco. Several hundred guests were present and officiating was Rev. P. J. Quinn, pastor of that church, assisted by Rev. Charles Phillips of St. Anthony's church at Hugabon; Rev. P. J. Keating, of this city; Rev. Stephen Barron of San Francisco and Rev. M. Ryan of Berkeley.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Edward E. Murphy. Miss Kathleen Murphy was bridesmaid and little Dorothy Eileen Murphy, flower maiden, both gowned in apricot and gold.

Frank Sullivan was best man for his brother.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle and silver and carried white brides roses, lilies of the valley and cyclamen. She wore the formal veil of tulle.

Mrs. Sullivan is a daughter of P. J. Murphy of this city and is a graduate of Our Lady of Lourdes Academy.

The bridegroom is a nephew of Frank M. Sullivan and Dr. Thomas Sullivan of Seattle.

The wedding breakfast was attended by relatives and the clergy.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan will leave this evening for Southern California on their wedding trip and on their return will make their home in the upper Lake district.

Major and Mrs. Charles Tilden of Alameda numbered Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee Tilden Jr., from Dunsmuir, among their guests.

The home of Miss Florine Brown and Mrs. Lillian Brown Evans in Jackson street is to be the scene of an old fashioned Thanksgiving dinner this evening for many of their old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jensen had with them at Mt. Diablo Country club, Mrs. William Letts Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Letts Oliver, the Roland Olivers, Ralph Madison Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Oliver and their families.

Mrs. Henry Clay Taft and her daughter, Miss Clara M. Taft, assembled the family at their home in Vernon Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Max Taft and their family, and Mr. and Mrs. George Marwedel and Miss Elizabeth Marwedel joining the family circle.

Out at the Highlands will foregather one of the largest home parties this Thanksgiving including Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lawrence Requa and Miss Alice Requa and Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Russell of Los Angeles and their young son who are up for the holidays. General and Mrs. Oscar Pittman Long, Mr. and Mrs. Zook Sutton and their kindies and Mr. and Mrs. Salem Camillo Pohlman. Presiding as hostess, as in years past, will be Mrs. Isaac Requa, chataine of the Highlands.

Despite the fact that they will give up their home which they sold recently, Judge and Mrs. Everett Brown are to have the members of their family at their own fireside both Thanksgiving and Christmas. Places will be set for eighteen guests including Mrs. Anna Osborne, mother of the hostess, who arrived this week from her home at Carmel-by-the-Sea.

At Alder farm is being held one of the largest gatherings—the guests including the members of the Magee family with Mr. and Mrs. William A. Magee in the role of hosts to the Charles Bentleys and their daughter, Florence and Margaret Bentley of San Francisco, Mrs. Thomas Magee and Thomas Magee Jr., of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hush Magee, Miss Elizabeth and Thomas Magee Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pigeon entertained the family this year and among their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Everett and Wallace Jr., who motored down from St. Helena, and Miss Ann Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whipple Hall of Manila; and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crellin and Miss Anna Crellin.

Rose chrysanthemums in abundance with potted plants and greenery formed the setting for the marriage last evening of Miss Belle Stewart and Russell Ward Miller of Illinois, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart of Warring street, Berkeley.

Rev. Aspley A. McAfee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in clergyman, nearly a hundred relatives and close friends attending the wedding.

The bride was married in a gown of white satin, crepe trimmed in rosepoint lace and wore a veil of tulle trimmed in the lace.

The bride's bouquet was of pale pink roses, lilies of the valley and white butterfly orchids.

Miss Seta Stewart, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and gowned in pale blue tulle and carried an arm bouquet of Irish Elegance roses.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Marion and Cora Stewart, Marion Fitzgerald, Mrs. Roy Stewart and Mrs. Francis Edwards, all gowned in the varying tones of pink tulle and carried arm bouquets of Ophelia roses and violets.

Roy Stewart was best man.

Los Angeles is to be the home of the couple after their marriage, where Miller is an instructor in the chemistry department of the Southern Branch of the University of California.

The bride has been feted continuously since the announcement of her betrothal. She is a former University of California girl and active in the work of the Junior Auxiliary of the Berkeley Dispensary.

BLUE BIRD BUREAU OF THE TRIBUNE

Three hundred and two years ago the Pilgrim Fathers gave their thanks to God on high for having blessed their life with plenty on a barren shore.

There are those whom Santa will forget.
In his mad rush;
If you do not help,
Spur your heart and hand to action,
The Blue Bird calls.

Parents and children, dear,
Plead your aid;
From far and near,
Spur your heart and hand to action,
The Blue Bird calls.

Give a helping hand to them,
Change their fears;
To thankfulness,
Spur your heart and hand to action,
The Blue Bird calls.

Today you are gathered around the festive board to eat of what the season's plenty has stored in all this bountiful land. Give thanks to Him who hath preserved you well and give a thought to those less fortunate than yourself. Think of the homes where want is boon companion and despair and dire distress are familiar figures as the year rounds to the full and Christmas marks its close.

The Blue Bird seeks to help dispel the gloom from empty homes at Christmas tide with gifts of toys and fruits and candies too. He asks Goodfellows of the Golden State to lend a hand. Come, extend good cheer and make provision on

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Dodge were hosts to friends from San Francisco at dinner this afternoon at their home together with the members of their own family.

U. S. Tax Collections Show Big Decrease

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Federal tax collections for the month of October aggregated $111,012,494, a decrease of $42,100,237, as compared with October, 1921, according to complete figures for the month compiled at the treasury.

Collections since July 1 amount to $111,753,468 against $119,984,882 for the same period of 1921.

Chief among the decreases by comparison with collections of a year ago, was the reduction in income and profits taxes. Those two items brought in only $29,434,464 in October, while for the same month last year the collections were $42,250,237.

REALTY MEN TO ACV CONVENTION SITE IN NORTH

Oakland Men Going to Santa Ana Next Week Bent On Aiding Sacramento.

Oakland realty dealers are going to the Santa Ana state convention next week with several objects in view, and not the least of these is a determination to help Sacramento get the state convention in 1923. The state conventions are held alternately north and south. It is due to come north in 1923 and Oakland has determined to get behind Sacramento. An Oakland will have a large delegation, it will wield a great influence in the Santa Ana convention.

Oakland also is going after several records and prizes. There is the attendance prize, given for the largest number of delegates traveling the greatest number of miles. As Oakland will have more than fifty delegates traveling more than 500 miles, this city will have a good chance for the prize.

Oakland also is determined to get the Fred B. Reed cup offered for the best five-minute "Home Town Talk." The Achievement committee of the Oakland board has chosen Thomas G. Murphy to make this talk and they expect him to bring back the trophy.

Registrations are being made with Secretary R. Porter Giles of the Oakland Real Estate Board. Those who bring their own cars will be furnished with banners, wind-shield signs and arm-bands free. Those who want to ride with others will be given assignments by telephoning to Secretary Giles at the local board headquarters.

Franklin K. Lane's Letters to Alameda County Citizens BEGINNING NEXT SUNDAY

War-time Letters of This Famous American

Oakland Tribune

Many of his letters are addressed to Alameda County Citizens, including Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, Adolph C. Miller, Robert M. Fitzgerald and E. C. Bradley. For the first time is the public given first-hand information of what took place at the Cabinet Table, and what prompted the stand taken by its members upon the important questions of that momentous time.

Mr. Lane Was a Candid Man

Those who knew him best know that he called a spade a spade, and his sincere opinions of those events in which he was a dominating figure, and with his colleagues in the cabinet makers of the most thrilling chapters in American history.

READ THE LANE LETTERS and Draw Your Own Conclusions

Already the advance extracts of the Lane Letters which appeared in The TRIBUNE have aroused ex-Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Admiral Sims to a spirited controversy in which each gives his personal opinions.

Franklin K. Lane did his first newspaper work in Oakland. He was first employed in the printing office of the Oakland Times and later was a reporter on that paper.

CHURCH INVADIED BY SEARCH GANG IN LOS ANGELES

Alleged Friendship of Pastor For Ku Klux Klan Believed to Be Cause

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—Forcing the front door of Trinity M. E. church, at Twelfth and Flower streets, of which Rev. Shuler is pastor, a gang of men, believed to be the same persons who recently addressed threatening communications to the minister, entered the church early today and conducted a systematic search of desks and letter files. A safe containing church funds was untouched.

The deed climaxed a series of acts directed toward Shuler of late by persons who apparently believe that the minister is friendly to the Ku Klux Klan. Recently the church sign in front of the building was decorated with the letters "K. K. K." in front of the word "Church," and last Sunday, just as Shuler was preparing for the morning service, he was advised over the telephone to leave the city.

After entering the church last night, the men went to the office, where desks and files were broken open and their contents scattered on the floor. The office of the Sunday school at the rear of the church was treated in similar fashion.

Auto Racer Accused of Leading Fast Life

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—A bill for divorce filed against Louis Disbrow, veteran automobile race pilot, today threatened to be the checkered flag ending his romance which caused him to forsake the racing game in 1916. At the time of the marriage Mrs. Disbrow announced that "she told him he would have to quit racing to become her husband." The bill, recorded in court yesterday, charged Disbrow with living "too fast a life."

Final Honors Paid

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 30.—(By The Associated Press.)—The ashes of George H. Seligman, United States consul-general at Yokohama who died here Monday, were interred in the general cemetery yesterday afternoon. Floral pieces lined the roadway to the cemetery and filled all the available places in the church.

The services were attended by many notables, including United States Ambassador Warren, a number of foreign ambassadors, all foreign consuls, Governor Inoué of the Kanagawa prefecture, the mayor and civic officials of Yokohama and many Americans.

Radio 'Bandit' Caught After Thrilling Chase

The TRIBUNE's radio "bandit" chase, which began this morning at 10:30, terminated at 1 o'clock with the capture of the bandit car at the Mt. Eden garage, after a thrilling chase by radio which lasted for two hours and 30 minutes.

The "bandit" car, driven by Frank Sanford of the Howard Automobile Company of Oakland, a Buick No. 533549, was captured by F. P. Terry of the Radio Specialty Shop of Oakland.

The only identification mark on the car was the license-plate numbers and the make of the car itself. This information was broadcast by The TRIBUNE's station, after which information as to the car's whereabouts was also broadcast to the nine radio-equipped automobiles that entered the chase.

Radio was put to the real test today—a test to prove its efficiency in hunting bandits. With a start of more than half an hour, the "bandit" managed to keep just ahead of his pursuers until he stopped at the Mt. Eden garage for slight repairs.

While he was there the garagemen recognized the car numbers and telephoned K.L.X. The whereabouts of the car was then sent out by radio, and eight minutes later Terry and his companions drove up and surrounded the place.

Other cars came near catching the "bandit," but failed to overtake him. Terry was on his trail every minute of the chase and just barely missed him at Niles, where the pursued car took on some gasoline.

The chase covered a total distance of 98 miles, and radio conquered, although it had but a license plate and the make of a car to look for.

Confessed Holdup
Proud He's Known As 'Square Crook'

Bart Arnold, alias Larry Rockford, confessed holdup man, is proud that he is known in the underworld as "a good burglar and a square crook."

Arnold is not his true name, though he is the one which he is booked under. He was arrested with three other men in Richmond within a few hours after the holdup at the Panama Hotel in this city.

Arnold is an ex-service man. According to the police, he enlisted in the Canadian army three days after he had been paroled from San Quentin. He was with the engineers and was in action at the front. He was wounded and gassed. He was awarded the French Croix de Guerre.

On Tuesday evening he thrice attempted to end his life in the city prison, twice by hanging and once by knocking his head against the wall.

He told the police he acted as a lookout during the holdup which occurred Tuesday. He says that every time that he gets a job some one tells the boss that he has a prison record. They never tell them of my army record," he added.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 30.—Patrolman John F. Stevens was shot and probably fatally wounded at 3 o'clock this morning by motor bandits driving a stolen limousine. He drove his auto to a hospital before he collapsed.

CONGRESS TAKES DAY'S REST FOR THANKSGIVING

End of Democratic Filibuster
Not in Sight When Senate Adjourns.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Congress, with the house having passed the shipping bill and the senate still in the quandaries of a Democratic filibuster on the Dyer anti-lynching bill, had suspended activities with other weaker bills of the federal government here today over Thanksgiving Day.

The House took an adjournment over the holiday immediately after passing the administration shipping bill yesterday by a vote of 208 to 154, with 69 Republicans joining the opposition and 4 Democrats voting for the bill. The senate fight over the bill, which faces threats to delay if not prevent its passage there, is expected to get under way next week, the senate committee getting the measure Monday and planning to report it as passed by the House. By a last minute vote the House yesterday struck out of the bill the amendment specifying that the subsidy would not apply to any voyage on which a ship carried liquor, its elimination being moved on the ground that it would tend to weaken rather than strengthen existing law.

There was no end of the Democratic filibuster in sight when the senate adjourned yesterday over Thanksgiving, and the situation was declared by some to point to its continuation until the extra session adjourns sine die Saturday night.

Although the motion to adjourn over today, after a five-hour session yesterday, was defeated in the Senate, Mr. Lodge, who as Republican leader had presided over the Republican caucus Tuesday at which it was resolved to hold the senate in session Thursday if necessary to break the filibuster, this was outside of any intention on the Republican side to drop the fight in behalf of the bill. And equally determined, last night were the Democrats to continue the filibuster.

1722 Motorists
Bite at Turkey
Fake in Street

Seventeen hundred and twenty-two fools there were and they made their Thanksgiving prayer to a bag, a couple of turkey legs and an ounce or two of feathers.

Employees of several wholesale houses on Franklin street between Fourth and Fifth streets yesterday afternoon took one of the brown paper bags that have been so prevalent on the streets in the past few days, filled it with feathers and placed a pair of turkey legs at the top so they protruded in the regulation pre-Thanksgiving manner.

This was left lying in the street, "careless like." Seventeen hundred and twenty-two motorists, by actual count, and the drivers of several horse-drawn vehicles fell for the fake. The assembled employees of the wholesale houses were furnished with a good afternoon's entertainment, until one fraile autoist of the spot-sport variety literally let the counterfeit turkey out of the bag.

Turkey Escapes
On Train; Feast
For Rail Agent

REDDING, Nov. 30.—Fred G. Moltzner stood before a chopping block in the rear of his mountain cabin late yesterday with a live turkey in one hand, and reached for an ax with the other.

The ax was just out of his grasp, and as he reached for it he relaxed his grip on the legs of the bird. The turkey, sensing danger, flew skyward and landed on top of a moving box car in a long train.

As Moltzner watched his holiday dinner bird disappear on the moving train, he discarded the ax and made for the Cottonwood railroad station, where the agent was induced to telegraph the agent at Redding to remove the bird from the train and hold it for Moltzner.

The agent, H. Hendrichsen, waited for the train with a large pole, effected a capture of the turkey, and then sent word back to Anderson reminding Moltzner that he owed him a turkey, and with the delivery thus expedited, he would take the bird in hand.

France Proclaims Thanks to U.S. in Special Services

PARIS, Nov. 30.—(By The Associated Press.)—A special Thanksgiving mass was celebrated at the French church of the Holy Trinity today as an expression of the friendship of France for America.

This was the first time the French church has recognized the American holiday. President Millerand attended the mass.

Abbe Patrick Flynn gave a sermon in both English and French in which he said France owed the deepest gratitude to America and it was fitting that she should join in her day of thanksgiving.

"We feel we have a real friend in America," he said, "and I hope we never shall cease to show our gratitude and appreciation of the friendship of the U. S."

At the American church, Ambassador Herick delivered the sermon, Consul General Thackeray read Harding's proclamation, and the congregation, which included the embassy and consular staffs and the members of the American colony, sang the national anthem.

The foot of the altar was piled high with turkeys, puddings, cranberries, figs, dates and all the other good things of Thanksgiving, contributed by the members for distribution to needy Americans.

Turkey cranberry sauce and plum pudding were on the menus at the leading hotels.

Information

"What is the meaning of calling card corners turned down?"

Formerly, the left end of the card was turned down to indicate that the whole family was included in the call. The right end was turned down to assure the family that the call had been made in person. It is no longer considered good form to turn down the ends of calling cards.

"How do you make 'Crab Louie'?"

Crab Louie—1 cup mayonnaise, 3 tablespoonsful chili sauce, 1 cold hard boiled egg chopped fine, 1 green pepper chopped fine, 3 pickles chopped fine. Mix together and add to the crab meat, serve on lettuce leaf. Some people add a small onion and several sweet pickles chopped fine also to the dressing.

Jack Johnson To Be Star in 1927 Othello

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(By International News Service.)—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, is speeding for Detroit today leaving behind him the information that he is going to appear in the Shakespearean role of Othello next autumn.

The play is to be touched up a bit to make it more attractive to the modern theatergoer. There is to be a touch of jazz here and there to enliven it.

According to Johnson, the sultan of Morocco is interested in the venture and will send 200 native Moroccans to lend color to the cast.

IN JAIL ONE HOUR
AFTER HIS ARREST

RICHMOND, Nov. 30.—In little more than an hour after he was discovered tending a still at his home on Forty-seventh street, near Cutting boulevard yesterday afternoon, Charles Burnside, colored, was sentenced to six months in the county jail. Besides the still, the police found 25 gallons of moonshine and 40 gallons of whiskey. Burnside was rushed before Police Judge C. A. Odell and pleaded guilty.

Currency Useless in Teaching Arithmetic

VIENNA, Nov. 30.—A curious effect of the debased Austrian currency is disclosed in the necessity of using the system of instruction in decimal numbers in the schools.

As in all other countries, the simplest method for such instruction used to be in terms of money, appealing directly and understandingly to the child mind. Thus it was easy to formulate lessons to the effect that one heller represented one one-hundredths of a crown, and so on.

Now one heller represents a variable sum, with no comparative stability, and the school authorities are trying to find another basis or symbol for primary instruction.

Furthermore, children today never hear of hellers except in school. The lowest purchasing unit is 100 crowns, and it takes three such units to buy a box of matches.

Soviet Officials Tire of Long Hours

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—Night work, which was so popular among the soviet commissars and ministers when communism was at its height, is gradually disappearing as part of the program of the new economic policy. The work of the various officials has been distributed in part to others.

them to labor fifteen and eighteen hours out of every twenty-four.

Nikolai Lenine, since his return to office after a six months' rest in the country, made necessary by illness, usually works in the evenings, but

Tehtcherin, commissar of foreign affairs, who in the old days never finished work until 5 or 6 o'clock in the morning, also works in the evenings seven days a week, but he usually finishes along toward mid-

POLICE OF TWO COUNTIES GET VANISHING MAN

Mayfield Butcher Drops Out of Sight and His Wife Fears Foul Play.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 30.—Complete mystery shadows the sudden dropping from sight yesterday of George Eberle, Mayfield butcher. Officers and relatives of the missing man have expressed fears of foul play.

Eberle left his home early yesterday morning in an automobile, apparently in happy spirits. When he failed to appear at his market in Mayfield at his accustomed time, inquiry was made to see if he was ill. His wife informed employees over the phone that Eberle had left for work as usual. The police were notified and search was immediately instituted for Eberle.

Mrs. Eberle, wife of the missing man, could ascribe no reason for her husband's disappearance. They had had no domestic difficulties, she told the officers, and declared that she knew of no enemies of her husband. She was firm in her belief that her husband had met with foul play.

Police of Santa Clara and San Mateo counties are searching for Eberle, of whom no trace has yet been found. Mrs. Eberle is assisting officers in every way to locate the missing man.

SUBWAY WORK TO COST $90,000

RICHMOND, Nov. 30.—Work on the lengthening of the subway to carry pedestrians and street cars under the Southern Pacific tracks passing MacDonald avenue in Richmond is well under way, according to George H. Harris, assistant general manager of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway, who stated that his company will share the expense of the improvement jointly with the Southern Pacific and the city of Richmond.

The cost of the work will reach $90,000, Harris stated. The traction company will contribute $25,000 toward the expense, the Southern Pacific will contribute $25,000 and the other $40,000 will be appropriated by the city.

In addition to reducing the present steep grade by the subway, a new bore is to be made to provide underground passage for pedestrian traffic along MacDonald avenue. Heretofore pedestrians have had to take the grade crossing of the Southern Pacific tracks while street cars avoided delay by use of the subway.

Union Service Held By Churches

ALAMEDA, Nov. 30.—Alameda Protestant churches held union Thanksgiving services at 10 o'clock today in the First Baptist church. The Rev. D. O. Colgrove, pastor of the First Methodist church, delivered the sermon. The clergy from various city churches participated in the services which included the reading of President Harding's Thanksgiving proclamation. Special music was prepared for the occasion.

SLAYING LAD TO BOY

ATLANTA, Ala., Nov. 30.—Earle Wells, a school boy, and stepson of Charles Wells, who was shot to death in his home Monday, was held responsible for the slaying. Wells' death by a coroner's jury which reported today. He surrendered. Evidence indicated that Wells was shot from outside the Wells home.

WISCONSIN SCHOOL BURNS

RACINE, Wis., Nov. 30.—Only a few hours after the students had departed for the Thanksgiving vacation last night, fire destroyed the Racine-Kenosha County Teachers' Training school at Union Grove, west of here, causing loss estimated at $90,000.

Good for Young Folks

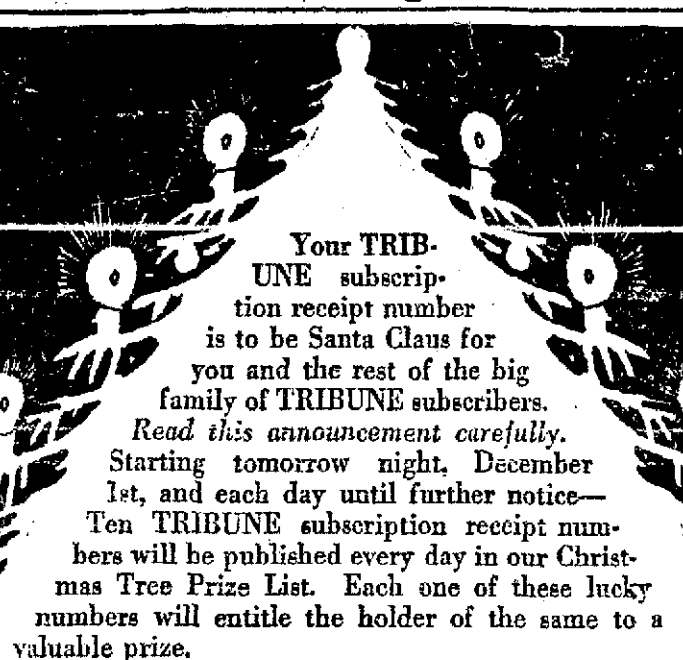

—Olive Oil is Nature's Food

SAN LEANDRO

Officers Elected By Girls' Reserve

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 30.—Election of officers of the newly organized Junior Girls' Reserve here and adoption of a program for next month's activities, were effected at a meeting of branch chapter here. The following were elected: Hazel Georas, president; Mildred Parker, vice-president; Florence Golding, treasurer; Dorothy Miller, secretary. The reserve comprises girls to and including twelve years of age. Miss Myra Grebe is in charge.

On December 7 the girls will dress dolls and arrange books for inmates of the county hospital; on December 15 a Christmas party will be held; on December 21 a candy pull will take place; on December 28 a business meeting will be held with athletic indoor sports following.

San Leandro Folk At Union Service

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 30.—Three San Leandro churches, First Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist, affiliated today for the purpose of conducting joint Thanksgiving services. The services, which began at 11 o'clock this morning in the Presbyterian church, were presided over by Rev. E. V. Bronson, local Methodist pastor. He spoke on a general Thanksgiving theme. Rev. Monroe Drew, Presbyterian pastor, offered the prayer. Miss Alice Bradley, of this city, sang the offertory and there was special singing by the church choir.

All of San Leandro observed the day. With practically every store, bank and school closed, the business section was practically deserted.

Students Home For Thanksgiving

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 30.—The Misses Florence and Ruby Mason, daughters of Mrs. B. F. Mason, prominent local business man, returned home today for Thanksgiving dinner. They arrived this morning, leaving Reno late last night. They will return Sunday, in time to resume their studies the following day at the University of Nevada, where they are enrolled as pupils.

Good Things Given By Campfire Girls

Hampers packed with chicken, vegetables, jellies, fruits, nuts, raisins and candy were distributed today to several needy families in Oakland by Iyazunta Camp Fire Girls. Miss Betty Edwards is president of the group. Miss Katherine G. Yetter is guardian.

The girls are collecting clothing, toys and books in preparation for the Christmas party which they are planning for twenty children who otherwise might be overlooked.

Young Woman Hurt By Runaway Horses

Katherine Cell, 24, telephone operator, 934 Third avenue, today is recovering from injuries received when she was hit on the neck and Washington streets, by a runaway express team, belonging to the Santa Fe. The accident took place late yesterday. The girl was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where she was given first aid. Her injuries consisted of bruises of a minor nature.

EDUCATOR GIVES STATE COUNCIL SUPERIOR RANK

San Jose City Superintendent Says California Children Are Highly Favored.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 30.—California is in a favored position educationally. She has an educational system that is the peer of any in the world, if not the superior of all. Her city schools are on a par with schools in the entire country, while her rural schools are far superior to any other rural school system in the nation. So spoke Walter L. Bachrodt, city superintendent of schools of San Jose, at yesterday's meeting of the San Jose Lions' club.

"The fundamental reason for this," Bachrodt continued, "is that the state and county bear the great burden of the educational expense and that expense is not borne by local taxation. Our standards for teachers are immeasurably higher than anywhere in the union. Over 85 per cent of our teachers have at least the equivalent of a normal school education, compared with much smaller percentages in other states."

Bachrodt is a member of the local committee in charge of arrangements for national educational week, December 3-5. With him are serving County Superintendent of Schools Agnes E. Howe, Dr. W. W. Kemp, president of the San Jose state teachers' college; Professor Raymond L. Barrett, principal of the San Jose high school; Joseph E. Hancock, county superintendent of schools-elect, and Dr. J. Samuel Staub.

Paraphernalia of King in 1350 B. C. Unearthed in Egypt

LONDON, Nov. 30 (By the Associated Press).—What is claimed to be the most sensational archaeological discovery of the century was announced in a Cairo dispatch to the Times from the "valley of the kings" on the site of ancient Thebes, near Luxor. A series of subterranean chambers has been explored and a cache of treasure, including the paraphernalia of the Egyptian king Tutankhamun, one of the heretic kings of the eighteenth dynasty reigning about 1350 B. C. The discovery was announced by Lord Carnarvon, specially summoned from England by the explorer Howard Carter, who had been excavating at this place with Lord Carnarvon for seven years.

In the royal necropolis of the Thebes, directly below the tomb of Remes VI, a chamber was discovered which contained a treasure of gold and silver. The discovery was announced by Lord Carnarvon, specially summoned from England by the explorer Howard Carter, who had been excavating at this place with Lord Carnarvon for seven years.

Y. L. I. Plans For Dance, Program

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 30.—The Young Ladies' Institute is preparing for an entertainment and dance, at St. Joseph's Hall December 9. A skit, entitled "Hearts and Clubs," will be the feature attraction of the evening. It is stated. In addition, there will be fancy dancing, folk, classic and interpretative, vocal and instrumental selections and other numbers. Miss Agnes Lund, aged 7, of this city, will participate, as will Miss Ruth Hannan, of San Francisco. Both are well known amateur performers. A dance will conclude the program.

Grand Opera Given in Minstrel Show

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 30.—With continued rehearsal bringing forth unusual talent, principally of grand opera nature, the benefit minstrel show and vaudeville presentation, to take place here next month for the organ fund of St. Leander's Catholic church, promises success. It was announced today by C. W. Booth, in charge. "The Serenade from Lucia" will form one of the main feature music numbers.

Officials Make Gifts to Wards

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 30.—Officials of the County Jail today made gifts to the support of two local inmates in the recent election in the form of cigars and candy last night when W. J. Gannon and Manuel Valance, re-elected justice of the peace and constable, respectively, visited with the institution.

Narcotics Being Sold Prisoners, Is Charge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(By International News Service).—Charging that narcotic drugs were openly being sold to inmates of the Missouri state penitentiary, officials of the prisoners' relief society today wrote Governor Arthur M. Hyde of Missouri, demanding a state investigation of conditions at the prison. The society, making the letter public, declared it would also call the attention of federal authorities to the alleged conditions in the prison.

FOWLS ARE STOLEN

ALAMEDA, Nov. 30.—For the second time within a week thieves visited the Don Cohen place in Buena Vista and carried away some of his poultry. Last night the burglar secured two large turkeys and thirty-eight pigeons valued at $78, according to a report made to the police.

GOVERNOR NEAR DEATH

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 30.—Ex-Governor James O. Davidson is reported to be at the point of death at a hospital here, suffering from undetermined complications. He has been ill three weeks.

Two Centerville Girls Married at Home Ceremonies and Go to Pittsburg as Brides

Brides in two interesting marriage ceremonies that were performed today at Centerville. They are MRS. M. W. BENNETT (left), who was Miss Rilla Bell, and MRS. D. L. KIRK, formerly Miss Irma Oliveria. They will make their homes in Pittsburg, Contra Costa county.

PLANS LAUNCHED FOR IRRIGATING CALAVERAS LAND

SAN ANDREAS, Nov. 30.—The Calaveras County Water Users' Association has been incorporated to bring irrigation water to thousands of acres of low foothill lands west of Valley Springs and between the Mokelumne and Calaveras rivers in Calaveras county. The directors are: Frank Sinclair, Jenny Lind, J. R. Atchison, San Francisco; J. A. Cavagnaro, Camanche; Dr. W. B. March, Burson; L. B. Sammis, Wallace.

At a meeting at Burson the project was discussed from various angles. The unanimous belief being that unless action be taken at once, the available water will be carried down into the valley by outside interests. Efforts will be made to obtain the use of water from a canal now owned by the Mokelumne river power company.

DECEMBER 8 SET APART AS VISITATION DAY

Friday, December 8, will be "Home Visitation Day" in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, when members of all religions will co-operate in a general betterment and religious movement. The purpose of "Home Visitation" is to visit every home in the three cities, and to leave printed invitations, asking the people to attend the Sunday school, church or synagogue of their choice, and to obtain records of the church connection of every individual, which will be given to the pastor, priest or rabbi, or other leader of such church. It is planned to visit 500,000 people in two hours.

DRIVER, OWNER OF 'LOST WINE' TO FACE TRIAL

BERKELEY, Nov. 30.—Tom Smith, salesman, of 798 Fifth avenue, San Francisco, who owned the five gallons of wine which disappeared from his automobile in front of the Oakland police station and caused the departments of that city and Berkeley to begin an investigation, will face trial in the superior court for driving while intoxicated.

Smith was held to answer yesterday by Judge Robert Edgar as a result of demolishing an automobile driven by Mrs. John Gilson Howell, well known Berkeley dramatic reader. Ten gallons of wine were seized from Harris' machine by the police. The other five gallons are still missing.

Smith was released yesterday on $1000 bail and also "bailed out" two turkeys which were taken from his car at the time of his arrest. The turkeys, which were fed by the police since their owner's arrest, were killed for today's dinner in the Harris home.

NEW MAYOR AND COUNCIL BASH OVER SALARIES

Fight Develops At Modesto Over Attempt to Get Rid of Playground Director.

MODESTO, Nov. 28.—Sharp differences of opinion developed for the first time last night when the new city council brought up the subject of salaries of two city employees.

Attempt of Mayor Sol H. Elias to obtain the discharge of Earl Shadlinger, community service man, who is acting as playground director for the city, was defeated by a three to two vote.

Elias declared the city does not have the money to continue this work. Others declared Shadlinger's work is more valuable than that of four or five policemen.

Councilman Prevett introduced a resolution to reduce the salary of City Clerk L. A. Love from $350 to $350 per month. Love resigned at once if his salary is cut. He urged the council to lock into the matter more fully before taking action.

The council decided to do this after Love had produced figures from fifteen California cities near the size of Modesto showing that Modesto paid less than any other for the five offices which are combined here in Love alone.

Mayor Elias defended Love as the most efficient city clerk obtainable and declared it was inadvisable to retain what he termed a useless recreational director while seeking to reduce the salary of the city clerk.

Appropriate, But Quiet Celebration At White House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Celebration of Thanksgiving Day at the White House was a quiet family affair.

President and Mrs. Harding had an unpretentious little dinner for two served in Mrs. Harding's own room, luxuriant with flowers sent by numerous friends.

The simple dinner today contrasted strikingly with the elaborate spread of other years, when relatives and friends of the family gathered about the huge banquet table in the state dining room on the lower floor of the mansion.

There was turkey, cranberry sauce and the usual trimmings—for the president. Mrs. Harding, on account of her condition, was allowed only a light dinner but was permitted to taste of the wide assortment of fruit which was sent as a gift from the department of agriculture.

Woman Injured When Car Capsizes

Escaping with minor injuries when an automobile driven by her husband, turned over at Twelfth and Webster street after collision with another machine, Mrs. Eva McCoy, 2040 Twenty-seventh avenue, is today recovering at her home. She suffered deep lacerations on the left ankle, and shock. McCoy and C. H. Davidson, 1515 Alcee street, driver of the other machine, both escaped injury. The accident happened yesterday.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1922

EASTBAY'S THANKSGIVING.

During the year 1922, with one month to go, 58 new industries have been added to Oakland's list. In money invested this means $6,000,000 and in men employed, 2,500. It represents an addition of $5,000,000 a year to the city's payroll. In this record industrial Oakland may find ample cause for Thanksgiving.

The report of John Phillips, chairman of the new industries committee of the Chamber of Commerce as read yesterday before the Oakland Advertising Club demonstrates to the world Oakland's claims to the most rapid manufacturing development of any city on the Coast are well founded. These figures represent accomplishment, they are the signatures on the dotted line, the proof positive of the steady and remarkable growth of this city and the Eastbay.

There are 800 manufacturing establishments here now, employing 42,000 persons. Capital invested amounts to $150,000,000 and the annual payroll is $60,000,000. The value of the output of the Eastbay manufacturing is $275,000,000. Their field is the world.

This is a big story Oakland is asked to learn. The city is growing so fast that even its most active citizens discover a task in acquainting themselves with the details. There is a need, perhaps, for a "know Oakland" campaign, for little journeys to the industrial plants, and for every citizen to fortify himself with the eloquent facts which speak of the present and the future. If there is anyone in the Eastbay who does not see his community as an individual leader, who does not hold the vision of the great city which need take second place to none on the coast, it is because he is unacquainted with the record written in factories, output, investment and payroll.

The community development, of course, is not confined to manufacturing plants. One has but to remember the skyline of a year ago and compare it to that of today, to walk the business district and note the new office buildings and stores under construction. In addition there are to be built: a Scottish Rite temple to cost more than a million dollars; a new Elks club to cost as much; the Ambassador Building to cost $225,000; the Federal Building at a million and a quarter; the Athens Athletic club to cover a square block down town, and many other structures. New homes are being erected in all parts of the city. The daily list of building permits reveals a tremendous output of a trip about the city shows areas, which were bare a year ago, thickly settled with new homes.

As a manufacturing, business and home community Oakland and the Eastbay have shown unprecedented development. The civic thanks which are being returned are heartfelt.

San Francisco harbor again ranks first in importance on the Pacific Coast both for cargoes entered and cargoes cleared. The port held position as seventh in the United States for cargoes entered with New York, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and Galveston leading and sixth for cargoes cleared. In the latter classification New York, New Orleans, Galveston, Philadelphia and Baltimore lead, and Portland, Ore., takes seventh place, with Seattle eighth. The importance of the Pacific ports according to the Shipping Board figures, show: San Francisco first, Portland second, Seattle third, and Los Angeles fourth.

SAVINGS SHOW INCREASE.

Reflection of the national prosperity which affords so many reasons for the returning of thanks today is to be found in the cold figures of the national banks. In estimating the savings of the people of the United States, the numbers of depositors and the increases in bank, the report of the Comptroller of the Currency is the only available source of information. While this is, of course, exact for the field covered, it should be remembered that only those national banks having savings departments are included in the totals. The state banks and the postal savings accounts are not represented.

Comparison of the national bank figures, this year to last, shows that there are $3,046,054,000 savings deposits credited to 8,873,327 depositors to whom the banks pay an average interest of 3.75 per cent. This is the greatest amount of savings ever reported by the national banks. There are today 764,085 more depositors and $88,490,000 more in savings deposits than a year ago. There are 162 more national banks featuring this class of business.

A country that is able to save, one which is increasing its number of saving depositors and the total deposited, is a prosperous country. In every state in the Union there is cause for celebration of this holiday.

SOME "SMART" YOUNG MEN.

It is easy to write "smart" things about prominent men and accepted institutions. A dash of audacity and impertinence, a love of words and phrases and a disregard for the facts may set up the writer as a clever man engaged in a labor of enlightenment.

It is when the young editor sees "a mission" in peddling indecency he becomes a menace. Why should a magazine published by students in Berkeley consider itself justified in printing an uncivil review of an uncivil book? It may be granted the "review," which was really a private letter, answered the purposes for which it was written. It referred, however, to a book which has been privately printed and which cannot have been read by even a small number of the students of Berkeley. And the letter itself condemns the book it describes as filthy. It would argue against its own publication in this manner. In printing the letter there could have been but one motive and that was to shock. In every college in the country, every so often, there appears a youth who is convinced his fellows are in every way dull and wrong and that he is in every way bright and right. By cultivating the young intellectuals in literature, by aping and seeking to outdo them he casts menacing phrases into snappy attacks on college presidents, women's clubs, and everything that may furnish the excuse. Sometimes there is a point in the paragraphs; more often a smirk and the chuckle of a man who cannot contain the satisfaction he holds with himself.

The Berkeley instance is one of a few men who published a magazine without authority from the university. The students have ousted it from the campus and the editor protests against the "provincialism" of the act. And yet the students are right. They may not be as bright as the young editors, they may not take themselves so seriously—but they have a better sense of values.

A SAN JOSE RECORD.

San Jose's $125,000 performance of "Fox" Quiller sets a record in entertainments given for charity. The $125,000 was not spent to put on the show, it represents what was taken in at the box office, a sum which has been turned over to the Community Chest and will be disbursed where it will do the most good.

The Elks in San Jose sponsored the performance to raise money for the annual empty stocking fund and the city responded wholeheartedly. Seats at $100 apiece were the cheapest and some sold for $1,000, the auction plan being used. As a result the record mark for receipts of any single performance or a local talent show was multiplied many times.

The Community Chest contemplates uniting the various drives and campaigns and a single appeal for money to be spent during the year for charitable causes. San Jose has such a chest and this fact may explain, in a measure, the response to the opportunity offered with the Elks show. A city that can raise so large a sum for charity in one night and have such a good time doing it has reason to be proud. The San Jose record will be a hard one to beat.

"Tiger" Clemenceau is here on the biggest job of propagandizing that has been undertaken by any one man since the war. He says himself that he came "to draw the United States into the conference of Lausanne, which means to involve us in Europe's troubles. The United States so far has considered itself well out of this much involved mess, and if it can be pulled in by a single propagandist, it will be an example of radical national reverse. That the trouble over there cannot be settled with our aid is not a convincing argument. All the world's troubles are not necessarily burdens that we should take up.

Iconoclasts are eternally cropping up and seeking to reverse what we have come to accept as history. For forty years and more, that the gallant Custer was killed by Indians in that last notable engagement on the Little Bighorn was considered beyond question. Now comes a North Dakota judge person and declares that Custer committed suicide. He has it straight from some of the Indian survivors. It is like the German claim that somebody else started the war, but it may inaugurate a controversy. There are so many who like to argue

TO A BUZZARD SWINGING IN SILENCE.

Was freedom till I saw you swing,
Ragged, exultant, black and high,
Against a hollow, windy sky—
You that with such a horrid gait
Lumber and flap with red, raw pate!

I never saw how beauty grew
From ugliness, until you flew
With soaring, somber, steady beat
Of wings rough-edged to grip the

Var-couraging horses of the sky
To ride, to ride them gloriously,
O silent buzzard—you whose sun
On earth is to be shackled in
To horror—teach me how to go
Idle you, to beauty, sure and slow;
Like you to slip such caution ties
And lift and lift to high, clean skies.

Where winds and sun and silence ride
Like you, O buzzard, glorified

Lloyd George is quoted as having said recently:
"Wesley and Whitfield brought America into the war. I don't know the exact figures of our debt to America. I am told it is a thousand millions at the present moment. It is nothing to the debt America owes us. I should like to write the balance sheet. Debt, one thousand and ninety millions. Credit, John Wesley and George Whitfield. I am not talking about Shakespeare, Burns and Milton, who are all in the account, and Pagan, Bismarck and the Pilgrimage Fathers."

But then, on the other hand, Mr. Lloyd George, do not forget that America has given Lord Astor to England.

A E. Thomas, our favorite American playwright, says it takes a major operation to get money out of a minor poet. The Chairman of the Parent Teachers' Association of New Jersey or somewhere wants to rid the world of the Flapper.

"A study in contrasts is what the Flapper needs," the official lady is reported as saying. "Show upon the screen pictures of the typical Flapper enjoying herself in the manner typical of Flappers. Then, by way of contrast, show the girl of refinement enjoying herself in a refined manner."—Which brings on more talk.

Cannot a Flapper be refined and still be a Flapper?
"Do refined, O Flapper!"
"Don't let young fellows get you!"
"But what?" inquired the Flapper, "Does this refinement get you?"

But the discussion goes little justice to the Flapper. We insist that there are really just as many kinds of Flappers as there are girls who flap—Some of them flap in a perfectly refined way, and some of them flap in a less refined way.

Excerpts from the National Press

Boston Transcript: "It must be terrible to attend a dentist's convention such as took place at New-castle-on-Tyne, where Sir James Crichton Browne addressed the British Dental Association. Undoubtedly each speaker begins by saying, 'Now, I'm not going to hurt you,' and diffident orators are encouraged by shouts of 'Keep your mouth open!' But it is not of professional matters that we would treat, but of a noble pronouncement uttered by the learned knight, who declared that 'food is the happy hunting ground of the faddist, and there is not any kind of food that has not been idiotically accused of having caused at least a dozen different diseases!'"

The Goldfield Tribune on Senator Lodge's humaneness: "The people who are trying to picture Senator Lodge as a man who lacks human sympathy and progressive sentiment, might reflect that he was one of the first to introduce a general child labor law in Congress, and that he strongly favors the constitutional amendment that will give congress power to regulate this matter."

The Medford Mail-Tribune considers the ship subsidy bill: "The ship subsidy bill, now before Congress, is a damper and will cost the country $9,000,000. It will result in considerable oratorical flap waving, and is vitally pressing—the people need the crease. The measure is surrounded by the usual baffling fog that surrounds plan issues, and provides that a bonus be paid to concerns who risk their ships by running them back and forth across the oceans. There is some talk of opposition to this."

Chicago News on an intriguing question: "We are not sure that we quite get the point of all this hue and cry for sex publicity. But the idea seems to be that if all the teachers teach sex and all the preachers preach sex, and all the papers print sex, the younger generation will become so completely tired and surfeited with sex that the sexless millennium will be here before we know it."

Stockton Record: "No one knows yet what sort of statesman Mrs. Congressman Huck will turn out to be, but she has some sensible ideas on how to bring up children. The mother of four, she says she begins in the baby stage to teach them self-reliance through having responsibilities and by meeting the small, routine affairs of their lives on their own initiative. Now the youngsters, who range from 10 to 17 years of age, know how to take care of themselves and she isn't worried to death about them when her back is turned. That's sound, isn't it?"

New York City.

We are always humiliated if the skin is diseased, especially if the face is marked by a chronic eruption. Some skin diseases are chronic. Indeed, it is rare for one to live from childhood to old age without having some sort of skin trouble.

Among the rarer diseases is "dermatitis herpetiformis" or "Dühring's disease."

This long name will seem simpler if I tell you just what it means. Dermatitis is the word used for any inflammation of the skin. Herpetiformis is a word which signifies "blister."

You will see, then, that dermatitis herpetiformis is a disease of the skin, characterized by inflammation and the formation of blisters.

This disease, like many other forms of dermatitis, causes intense itching. Likewise it has a tendency to recur frequently, which is the common thing in dermatitis. It is met in both sexes and at any age, but usually between the years of twenty and forty.

There are several exciting causes which we find in most forms of dermatitis—worry, fatigue, shock, ill-health and exposure to cold. The body is liable to many attacks, including dermatitis herpetiformis, if the powers of resistance are lowered from any cause.

We can never exclude toxemia—body poison. Any infection or disease of long standing and producing poisons may have its effect on the skin.

Some skin diseases appear to undermine the health, but this one does not. The victim may have pronounced skin symptoms and yet feel perfectly well.

The itching is worse at night, and is intense. Indeed, the skin may be so inflamed as to be actually painful. The sensation may be that of burning. Whatever the form of pain or disturbance, it breaks the rest and prevents sleep.

The forearms and legs are most likely to be involved. However, any part of the body may suffer.

It may last a few weeks or the attack may continue for a year. There may be a let-up for a few weeks or several months. Then the uncomfortable symptoms reappear. This history may continue for ten years or for the rest of life. On account of this tendency to reappear the disease is sometimes called "recurrent pemphigus."

In this disease there may be patches of redness, with blisters on the inflamed surface or along its borders. The little blisters may reach out beyond the inflamed base, and appear on the otherwise healthy skin. The diseased area gradually extends, and then dries up and fades out.

Anything that is good for itching skin is useful here. Lime and oil ointments or suphur paste may help. Hypophosphite of soda, one teaspoonful to a cup of water, may relieve the itching when applied to the blisters.

The blisters should be opened with a sterilized needle and to avoid infection in such a way as to avoid infection.

The internal treatment will be conducted by your doctor. Indeed, the chronic nature of the disease demands skillful care.

Needless to say, the intestines and kidneys must be restored to normal conditions, and any fecal infection removed.

CALIFORNIA PICKED 'AMONG LEADING FIVE GRID TEAMS OF U. S.

Coach Madigan of St. Mary's Analyzes Football Situation—Princeton, Army, Notre Dame and Nebraska Others Named

By DOUG. MONTELL.

With the football season drawing practically to a close today, only a few scattering games remaining of which the West draws nearly all during the first and last weeks of December, the football hot stove league begins its annual official session. Current talk centers on the everlasting subject: "Which was the best football team in the country in the 1922 season?" A highly debatable question to which no answer, or a variety of answers (whichever way one looks at it) is found. Were ardent followers of the game content to confine their discussions to sections there might be a hope of reasonable settlement of the problem, for in nearly every instance, there is a team whose record speaks for itself.

But when it comes to taking in the entire country there are none save those speaking from a biased point of view, who have sufficient knowledge of the teams which stand out as champions of their respective sections to put forth an opinion that will stand.

Football Coaches Are Able to Judge.

As a rule football coaches, when not discussing their own team, are as capable an authority on the "who's who" subject as can be found. During a recent fanning bee, which took in gridiron teams and heroes past, present and future, "Big" Madigan, former Notre Dame star and at present coach of St. Mary's College, shed far more light on the 1922 situation than has been uncovered to date.

Madigan is in a fair position to speak, having played in the Middle West on one of the best eleven and against the best the Big Ten afforded during his collegiate career. Madigan was also fortunate enough to participate against some of the Eastern eleven and knows many of the outstanding stars, either by reputation or by having played against them.

Field Is Narrowed

Down to Five Teams.

Madigan narrows the 1922 field down to five eleven, but refuses to advance a step beyond that, even refusing to rank one above the other. His first five for the season include: California, Notre Dame, Army, Princeton and Nebraska.

Arguments which eliminated many other strong contenders for honors from the first five would make a prolonged, tiresome discussion. Many undoubtedly would favor Pitt, Penn State, Iowa, W. and J., Georgia Tech, Michigan, Chicago and others, but there must be a line drawn somewhere. Pointing out that Notre Dame was representative of the Middle West this year, Madigan claimed that the record of Coach Reekie's team and Purdue in the Big Ten was sufficient to permit them to be ranked in the first five.

Notre Dame Has

Edge in Punting.

Caster, Notre Dame's punter, has average 51 yards to date this year, according to Madigan, which stands out over any other team punting the Pacific Coast has seen. This would give Notre Dame an advantage over California and would put the Bears in a position in which they have had every other team they have met this season in their own territory with the task of working it up the field.

The Army has had fair punting all year, but save for a good line and well balanced backfield, fails to stand out over any other team. Madigan gives California credit for having a better passing game than the Army this year, but claims that Notre Dame would equal the Bruins in this department.

Nebraska is rated as the best outside of Notre Dame in that section and they are ranked to the front despite their 3 to 6 defeat at the hands of Syracuse.

Princeton Is the

"Outguesser" of All.

Princeton's claim to fame is unquestioned, the scrapping Tigs having spilled enough dope in defeating Chicago, Yale and Harvard

Duffy Is Ready for Ding-Dong

All this talk about Travia Davis holding Jack Britton and Dave Shade to draws is not worrying JIMMY DUFFY in the least, and the local lightweight is hoping that Duffy will accept Simpson's offer to box him at the Oakland Auditorium next Wednesday night. Duffy is "raring to go."

W. H. Klepper Off To Attend Meeting

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 30.—William H. Klepper, majority owner of the Portland baseball club, and Gus Moser, attorney for the club, left today for Louisville, Ky., to attend the coming annual meeting of the National Association of Minor Leagues. The team will meet Klepper and Moser at Louisville, where it is expected that some deals looking to the strengthening of the Portland team will be made.

Lynch Is Matched With Midget Smith

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Joe Lynch, holder of the bantamweight title, will meet Midget Smith on December 22 in New York in a championship match, under arrangements completed by the managers of the two principals and Frank Flounery, matchmaker, at Madison Square Garden yesterday.

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 30.—Mike Donahue, who resigned after the recent Harvard game, has withdrawn his resignation as head coach of athletics at Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

All-American Nine Defeats Japanese

OSAKA, Japan, Nov. 30.—By the Associated Press.—The touring American baseball team of major league stars today defeated an all-Japanese team 13 to 1. The Americans made 21 hits and one error. Their opponents recorded 6 hits and 4 errors.

Tom Simpson Is Seeking an

All-Star Card

Match Between Duffy and Davis Has Not Yet Been Closed For Wednesday.

Tommy Simpson, the little promoter of boxing shows, is determined to put on a card of all-star bouts at the Oakland Auditorium next Wednesday night and treat the fight fans to the first dish of bouts in more than a month. Tommy will do that in spite of the fact that he has not yet arranged for a single bout, and that he is doubtful about landing Travia Davis to appear in the main event with Jimmy Duffy, the local lightweight.

Joe Waterman, manager of "Bud" Riley, is the gentleman responsible for the Duffy-Davis bout being up in the air. Tommy trusted to Waterman to sign up Davis for the bout Wednesday night and believed that the final papers had been signed. But yesterday Simpson received word that Waterman failed to do his stuff, so Tommy had to shoot a wire to Davis last night, and he is now waiting for a reply to come from Seattle, where Davis has been boxing. Jimmy Duffy is assured of being on the card, so he is in training each day and will be fit to do his best with any boy that Tommy Simpson matches with him.

George T. Shanklin, northwest promoter, tried to land Davis for his card next week, but failed, according to word received here in a telegram yesterday by Bill Bernheim, manager of Eddie Landon, Shanklin wants to match Landon with Davis or Harper. Landon will box in the northwest some time during December.

Tod Morgan has been promised a place on Tommy Simpson's next card. Tommy's greatest trouble is getting a suitable opponent. "Get them as tough as you can," said Morgan to Simpson, and Tommy will probably dig up a tough boy, as he promised to start out with an all star card.

Willie Ritchie cannot make up his mind if he wants to box Jimmy Duffy at the Oakland Auditorium next New Year's day. Whether it is the size of the medal or the fact that Duffy is a tough boy, Simpson did not state, but he thinks Ritchie will come through later on.

Joe Azevedo, local lightweight, will don the padded mitts today for the first time since he hurt his eye. Joe expects to appear before the local fans in another week or two. Frankie Reyes will look after him in the training quarters.

Reyes is handling the affairs of Charles Marteno and Roy Kronick, a pair of good millers who will appear at the show in San Francisco tomorrow night. Marteno weighs 175 and Kronick 165 pounds. Reyes would like to get them on the local card for next week.

Middleweights A Sad Lot, Is

Word of Walsh

By DAVID J. WALSH, International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—With commendable enterprise the always unique Mr. Muldoon, of the New York State Athletic Commission, has named eight middleweight boxers whom he considers worthy to enter an elimination series, the winner to take on the alleged champion, Mr. Muldoon's own, for the title. It is to laugh.

The eight nominees are Lou Bogash, Pat Reed, Mike O'Dowd, Jack McLean, August Rattner, Tommy Loughran, Bryan Downey and Tommy Robson, second raters all, and the man the survivor is to meet is Dave Rosenberg, the commission's champion merely by force of circumstances.

NOT TOO GOOD.

To date Bogash has accounted for Reed in a bout that raised no one's temperature in the slightest degree. The remaining bouts probably will be much the same. You cannot get blood out of a turnip nor first-class action out of a second-class prize fighter.

The men in question are middleweight headliners today. Ten years ago such names as Ketchel, Papke and Jack O'Brien, twenty years ago it would have been nothing short of criminal negligence to let them loose in the same enclosure with Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Ryan, Kid McCoy and a bit before that the original Jack Dempsey, known as the Nonpareil.

These were fighting men as great as any in ring history, and behind them they have left a trail of reminiscence so rich in glamour and incident as to be near-fiction.

No one fortunate enough to be in at the death will ever forget the passing of Dempsey at the freckled hands of Bob Fitzsimmons. Only a shadow of his former greatness, Dempsey was a knocked down nine times, but the wick of his courage burned steadily on.

Unable to rise after the final knockdown, the Nonpareil crawled along the ring floor toward Mike Ryan, who was standing by him. He wore the badge of courage that night as only a few have been able to wear it.

KETCHEL VS. O'BRIEN. Then, subsequently there was the meeting between O'Brien and Ketchel, the Michigan Assassin. O'Brien, the boxer, out Ketchel, the fighter, into slithers for nine and a half rounds as great a fight as New York has ever known. Then the climax.

With less than ten seconds to go, Ketchel caught his clever opponent flush on the jaw and down he went, out physically, but still very much a mental match.

With his back curly head resting in the resin-box where it had landed, O'Brien turned and snarled at the crowd, yelling like a wolf-pack over his downfall. His muscles quivered and he was dead, for his head remained clear, as O'Brien was showing how a good man loses. And while the referee was still tolling the count the bell rang, ending the fight, and O'Brien was saved the ignominy of a knockout.

In comparison with his predecessors the modern middleweight is a silly joke. Indeed, it is to be assumed, from what the eight leaders named have shown, a real successor to Ketchel will have to come from the ranks of the younger and less-known middleweights of the day.

Rickard Proposes Boxing Innovation

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—A boxing innovation through which it is hoped to bring out hidden ability in the younger and lesser known pugilists is being advocated by Tex Rickard, Madison Square Garden promoter.

promoter has announced that he is seeking the permission of the state athletic commission to conduct a series of eight five-round bouts between aspiring boxers whose qualities are not generally known, because of their failure to secure bouts at local clubs.

Special permission is necessary, as the commission limits a club to one show a week. If the innovation is adopted, it would be used to break up "the same old ring" of boxers.

Roger Conti Leads Belgian Cue Expert

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Playing the last block of a series of six 300-point billiard matches, Roger Conti of France last night won from Edouard Morenness of Belgium, 1800 to 1489.

Conti's grand average was 22.2-23; Morenness's was 21.10-22. The games had been running for three days, a block having been played each afternoon and evening.

PRISONER'S WOUNDS FATAL. LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 30.—Joe Martinez, Mexican, who killed Captain A. H. Leonard and stabbed six other guards at the federal penitentiary Tuesday, November 14, died early tonight, succumbing to a bullet wound in the stomach. The skull of Martinez was fractured in several places by clubs and chunks of coal used by guards during the fight, and was shot in the stomach and in the leg.

SEATTLE IS WINNER. SEATTLE, Nov. 30.—Within four minutes of the end of the fourth period, the same would have been called a draw. Morris for Seattle scored a goal that gave the Kets a 5 to 4 victory here last night over the "Victoria" Cougars in the Pacific coast hockey association.

TO PLAY AT VALLEJO. VALLEJO, Nov. 30.—Hazen and Kirkwood, the noted golf players, are said to have accepted an invitation to play the Pitt and golf course on December 1.

Santa Clara Will Disband This Evening

Offers of Post-Season Games Made By Arizona and De Paul Rejected.

SANTA CLARA UNIVERSITY, Nov. 30.—Having refused offers from De Paul university and Arizona, university for post-season games, the Santa Clara football team will disband this evening at a banquet to be given in their honor at a San Francisco cafe.

When the Mission College returns on Monday next, the basketball season will start. Coach Joe "Sneeze" Aurrocochoa has been at Santa Clara for two weeks looking over prospective stars for his five, and when he calls for first practice next week he expects to have plenty of material of hand to make a stronger outfit than he had last year, when the team only met four defeats, and those to California and Stanford, one apiece, and two to the fast Los Angeles club.

Aurrocochoa will have Johnny Logan, Pat Ferrario, Yukota, Malloy, Vasconcellos, Toso and Pawke as a nucleus for his hoop artists, and chances are that they will have to stop to keep their positions on the varsity, as present indications show that the candidates for the different positions on the team will be many. Logan is a certainty for center, and Ferrario at guard and Yukota at forward look like sure shots.

No definite schedule has been arrived at yet, but the team will meet California, Stanford, St. Ignatus, St. Mary's, College of the Pacific, and Joshy Nevada. It has been rumored that another trip to the southland would be taken, repeating the call the varsity made last year on the Los Angeles, but in the matter also looking definitely has been decided.

Church Basket League Will Have Big Membership

The Oakland Sunday-school Basketball League will have its biggest membership of teams this season, according to an announcement made by W. A. (Bud) Kearns at the Oakland Y. M. C. A. To date the league has twenty-five teams and Kearns looks for that number to be doubled by the time the season opens. Shirley Snow of the First Christian church and an instructor at the Oakland Y. M. C. A. was elected basketball commissioner.

Following is a list of the churches who have thus far entered teams: Eighth Avenue M. E., Pioneer Memorial M. E., First M. E. Oakland, First Christian, Oakland, United Brethren, Truth Center, St. James Presbyterian, Shattuck Avenue M. E., Fruitvale Presbyterian.

Yankees Will Have New Stars in Field

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Following the lead of the world's champions, the owners of the New York American league team last night announced the names of the new players who will go south in the uniforms of the Yankees next spring.

These include Oscar Roettger, pitcher Sioux City, Western league; Right hander (drafted) and Outfielder Bernie F. Action, Wilson, N. C. (Piedmont league); Elton Langford, Lubbock, West Texas league. The recalled men include Gormer Wilson, Sioux City left handed pitcher.

Moore Has Shade Over Harold Smith

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Pal Moore, of Memphis, Tenn., had a shade the better of Harold Smith, Chicago bantamweight, in their ten-round boxing match before an American Legion post here last night.

Gene Tunney Lands K. O. With Weinert

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Gene Tunney, former American lightweight champion, knocked out Charles Weinert, of Newark, N. J., in the fourth round of scheduled 15-round mill here last night.

SANTREL IS WINNER.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—Ad Santel of San Francisco, claimant to the world's light heavyweight wrestling championship, defeated the better of Harold Smith, Chicago bantamweight, in their ten-round boxing match before an American Legion post here last night.

Meysburg College Wins Cross-Country

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—Meysburg College of Meysburg, Pa., today won the annual "American" interscholastic cross country run in Fairmont park, scoring 41 points. Hutchinson central high of Buffalo, N. Y., was second with 57 points.

My Marriage Problems

Clara Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

An Uncomfortable Trip

He swung out of the door and I was glad enough of my victory in the larger matter to yield to him in the smaller. But I dreaded infinitely the curious glances which would be my portion when I should again face the outside world.

Dicky returned in a few minutes and glanced at my rearranged veil with approval.

"That's about as good a drapery as can be managed," he said. "But nobody'll kidnap you today for your beauty. And if the curious society doesn't nab me before the day is over I'll be truly thankful. I've got a taxi to take us to the subway, or do you want to go the whole way by machine?"

I shook my head resolutely, although the thought of facing a subway crowd was dismaying.

"We must get there the quickest way," I said.

"Have it your own way," he acquiesced. "I'll stand in front of you, but I'm afraid it won't help much."

His words were only too true a prophecy. That subway trip will always be a nightmare to me. The car in which we found seats also held several girls of school age, and although I tried to feel aloof and superior, yet I could not help wincing at their frank stares, their amused comments to each other—some of which were plainly audible—and their ecstatic giggling. By the time we had reached our station and I had followed Dicky to the door of the restaurant where we expected to find Katie I was almost ready for nervous tears.

HOW MADGE AND DICKY FOUND KATIE

Luckily there's a side entrance to this restaurant.

Without appearing to notice it, I knew that Dicky was contemplating my black eye ruefully, dreading our entrance into even so unpretentious a restaurant as the one before us, where we expected to find Katie.

I shrank from curious glances myself, but with true feminine inconsistency, I resented a similar attitude in Dicky. Just exactly how I expected him to feel I can not tell, but I suspect that deep within me was the absurd romantic longing to have him take me on his arm and with head held high, sweep into the most exclusive dining-room in the city. The little detail that I would almost have died before I would have made a difference in my ordinal made no difference in my secret feeling that Dicky should not have been ashamed of my appearance, no matter how bizarre it was.

But, fortunately for me, my common sense is generally strong enough effectually to smother the pathos which to my disgust, lurks within my composure, and I forced an enthusiastic assent to my lips.

"Oh, I'm so glad! Do you suppose there are many people in there?"

"Not now. Isn't quite lunch time yet. Look here, what are you going to order? I'll tell you now that I simply won't eat here. I've danced around to your tune all the morning, but this particular worm is going to turn and he himself up into knots right here. I'll order something for a stall so you can have a chance to send for Katie, but nix on eating here, also non non non."

I saw that he was in one of his obstinate moods, so I acquiesced promptly, and all the more readily because my glimpse of the interior of the restaurant was anything but reassuring.

"I thought I'd order some sliced oranges, toast and a pot of tea," I decided.

Dicky snorted. "You'll have no takers on that bet," he drawled. "But it's a good enough bluff at that, so we'll make it double. Come along."

THE WAITER IS AMUSED

I followed him tremulously into the side door of the restaurant which held less than half a dozen customers in all. A counter for serving ran the whole length of the room at the back with a hole in the wall behind it through which the waiters shrouded their orders and received in return the food for their customers. As we entered a burly white-aproned chap shouted in tones that could be heard a block:

"Two on a raft, one Java."

"What does he mean, Dicky?" I whispered.

"Sounds like a Conrad novel, doesn't it?" Dicky whispered.

"But it's nothing so high-brow. He simply means two peaches and one cup of coffee. Flip this one that's coming after us."

I followed Dicky's eyes to a little weathered man, who might have been 40 or 50, who was sitting down at a table with a deformity in his shoulder.

He was a whole head shorter than I, and he evidently added near-sightedness to his other afflictions, for he gave no indication of noting anything unusual in my appearance until he was directly in front of us. Then he started violently, and with an astonished grin, peered up at me, as though he had just seen a ghost.

THE QUIST MYSTERY

By Geo. C. Henderson

A Society-Detective Story of the Eastbay

Cast of Characters:
QUEEN QUIST—The daughter of the late Alexander Quist.
SPEED SARGENT—A football player.

HARRIS—The Butler.
MRS. CARRIE SNOOP—An old lady.
MISS AMICK—The Housekeeper.
INSPECTOR SCOTT—Oakland police department.
INSPECTOR GILBERT—Police department.
MRS. ANDERSON—The Quist cook.
Watchmen, officers, taxi drivers and street urchins.

SYNOPSIS.
 Alexander Quist, Piedmont millionaire, is found dead in his study from hydrocyanic acid poisoning. He was killed before the very eyes of his unsuspecting butler and despite many safeguards.
 Queen Quist, his pretty daughter, is suspected because she alone took him a drink. Napoleon Knott has a motive, the evening of the death of his father, who was a Quist, caused to commit suicide. Miss Amick was too friendly with Quist and poison is found in her room. Mrs. Quist is a demented and has a grudge against her husband. Miss Amick's husband is suspected; jealousy, and mixed with greed, she has a grudge against the Quists.
 Harris, the butler, is killed mysteriously, and Knott reveals to Speed Sargent that the servant was slain by shooting a poison needle through a blow.
 Knott's car is wrecked. Speed is thrown into the estuary. He confronts the escaped convict, captures him and he and Knott carry the felon to a cottage where they plan to get Speed admitted into Oakland's underworld through disguising him as the convict.
 Speed waits Queen in jail and almost makes love to her.
 Speed waits Queen who orders him out to the Berkeley jail disguised as a taxi driver to pick up Mrs. Snoop, who is being released.
 Speed picks Mrs. Snoop up on her release from the Berkeley jail, takes her to Oakland and there she escapes him. Toadies pick her up, and Speed is instructed to follow and drives her to a point near Government Island.
 Mrs. Snoop boards a mystery ship from a motor boat. Speed dives overboard and swims toward it when Toadies tell him that Queen is imprisoned on the old wreck.
 Speed boards the mystery ship and is picked up by a big Hindu, who takes him into a sequestered apartment.

CHAPTER 26

SPOOKS?

"I could lower you over the side with your hands tied behind you," repeated the Oriental.

Speed shivered. He had not considered the possibility of this.

"It would be a messy job," he objected.

"You're a nifty kid," he admitted, admiringly. "How many stiffs have you bumped off, Reggie?"

Speed distorted his face with anger.

"Lay off that stuff," he snarled, warningly.

"The cat has claws," cried the other, immensely amused. "A headless youth the most notorious assassin in the west. You westerners can make a rep easily."

"It's the rope for me if the dicks clock me," said Speed, in support of his own opinion.

"All I want is a quiet graft and enough jack for a getaway. I don't know your stuff I don't care. But you might give me a lift. Slip me a shot of hooch and some duds. And if you could loan me a buck or two—there's a lot of fall money coming here. I'll pay you back."

"You're safe to me," said the other, slowly. "Children come out and play on this old wreck every day, and they don't even know I'm here. The cowboys on the padlocks could hear the clatter from the inside make this the safest place on earth for a hideout. You are my guest. But I have other guests also, and I need not warn you to be discreet. When you leave this vessel you must never tell what you have seen here."

The Hindu's eyes flashed with momentary anger, and his fists clenched as he towered over the quartet.

"I visit a terrible vengeance on stoolies," he said, whistling the words through his teeth. "No one has ever dared to touch me here. The East Indian remained silent for some minutes.

"I am the Swami, Madho Guru, almost uncontrollable inclination to laugh.

"MEESIS GRAHAM!"

Then he turned his glance on Dicky, meaning him and the distinct admiration and respect that shone in his wrinkled old face, and saw his husband bite his lips to keep back a chuckle until the little chap turned away and led us to a table so near the counter that we could hear the clatter from the kitchen. But it was a table somewhat shielded from the rest of the room, and I dropped into my seat, thankful that so much of my ordeal was over.

While Dicky gave the order I was conscious that the old fellow was still furiously gazing at me, that when he went to the counter he did not shout out orders through the opening, but pulling open a door, disappeared into the regions beyond.

"If he were big enough, I'd punch his nose for him," Dicky growled, grinning reluctantly.

"He's simply delicious," I said. "He doesn't feel sorry for me, or shocked at you a bit."

"He looks as if he were saying, 'You will get funny with your husband, will you? Well, he's the brother of a boy that can trim you proper.' I'll bet he's telling the kitchen force about you so they can keep through the window at a real he man. Listen, I told you a prophet of the Superworld," he said at last. "My guests are distinguished people, and they must know that you are an escaped prisoner. You must pose as another person."

"I'll take any alias," said Speed carelessly.

The Hindu nodded approvingly and rubbed his hands.

"You are the exact image of a young man who is known to my guests," he continued. "Of course, that person's name is dead, but you must explain that you went to sleep in a barber chair and they mangled your locks, or some such thing as that, if you are called upon to explain your appearance."

"I'll take any alias," said Speed carelessly.

The Hindu waited for this to soak in.

"All right," cried Speed, impatiently. "What's my moniker?"

"You will call yourself Ted Sargent," he invited.

change his expression or betray the emotions which urged over him. He restrained the laugh that tugged at his lips at the idea of posing as himself.

"Name sounds like it belonged to some swell," he commented.

"And you," he continued, "forget that you are Reggie Montgomery, convict, and remember you are Ted Sargent, college athlete and aristocrat."

"I'm said Speed.

The Swami took him by the arm. "Come with me and you may see across the threshold into the land of dreams," he invited.

Speed, who was now able to walk, tied the robe about his middle and followed the Swami outside into another room.

The door closed, blotting out the light. The quarterback found himself standing alone in utter darkness. The Swami had left him. Yet he had an uncanny sense that some one was near. He heard breathing, and then voices whispered faintly.

Speed groped about in the darkness, touched a chair and sat down in it. He looked steadily in the direction from which came the sound of breathing. As his eyes became more accustomed to the light, he could make out what appeared to be two persons. The faces were like indistinct, gray spots in the Stygian night, but the forms were indistinguishable because of black garb against a black background.

The air was laden with the odor of incense, which gave him a subtle sense of pleasure. The carpet was soft and yielding under his feet, and the great chair into which he sat and dropped was comfortable.

Speed, falling from the ceiling, seemed to enfold the little chamber with its three occupants. Ten feet away to the right in front of him, Speed could make out a blur that looked like a table, and farther on was a small stage.

Soft music came from the direction of this platform. A tiny, luminous ball of filmy substance appeared on the carpet and began to revolve rapidly. It became larger and larger until it resolved itself into a human form, clad entirely in white. The face, which glowed phosphorescently, was perfectly distinguishable.

Speed leaned forward with a gasp of astonishment. At the same instant a voice broke the silence. It was a woman, sobbing.

"Eddie," cried the woman, "Eddie, my baby boy, speak to me."

The vision was that of a dead boy—Eddie Quist. And the voice was his mother's.

One of the figures in black rose and tottered forward. It resolved itself into a human form, clad entirely in white. The face, which glowed phosphorescently, was perfectly distinguishable.

Speed's heart was beating a vigorous tattoo. Never had he witnessed anything so uncanny. The ghost there was Alexander Quist to the life. The strong, kindly face, the white beard, the high, patriarchal brow were his.

"Peace!" boomed a hollow, sepulchral voice. "Peace be with you. I am the re-incarnated spirit of Alexander Quist. I come to you from across the threshold of the superworld. You must be happy and believe, or I can not stay. Trust in the Swami. He is my emissary on earth."

"Alex," exclaimed the voice of Mrs. Quist. "What shall we do, Alex? Quick, must hide—the police—jail—Oh, Alex, tell me!"

"Rest and contemplate," came in a clear voice.

"Build up within yourself fortune and tranquility. You are safe. Time will heal all wounds. I will communicate with you through the might soul of the prophet, Madho Guru."

"Who killed you, father?" asked Speed thrilled at the sound. It was Queen Quist's voice.

"A. S. The scene waited for weakly. "I'm losing focus," came a faint whisper while at the same time the face dissolved and the big form began whirling through the air.

And at the point where it disappeared a bright, round, speckled, floating over the heads of the astonished observers. The hand began to twist through the air and a name flashed for an instant where the mystic fingers had written in space.

It spelled out the one word, KNOTT. Here was the written answer to the girl's question.

Lights twinkled here and there on the small stage until a black canvas, resting on an easel in the foreground, was thrown into disarray. The canvas was perfectly white, containing no painting of any kind, and the easel was of the ordinary variety used by artists.

Out of the darkness of the back stage stalked a turbaned figure. It was the Swami, Madho Guru. The mild light bathed his high, white brow, giving it an unusual pallor in contrast with the black nose of his beard and the color of the drapes.

He was at loss to account for the phenomena. The glowing spirit face was an exact replica of that of Eddie Quist as he had seen it in the photograph in the widow's room. Even the expression of the countenance was identical.

The ball of light came into the room again, apparently floating near the ceiling over their heads. It revolved rapidly, getting larger and larger. No sound came from the movement. It descended lower and lower, and finally the luminous form, large as a man, rested on the floor, and the face slowly materialized.

Speed's heart was beating a vigorous tattoo. Never had he witnessed anything so uncanny. The ghost there was Alexander Quist to the life. The strong, kindly face, the white beard, the high, patriarchal brow were his.

table and bent his head over a glowing object, which he held carefully in both hands. To Speed it appeared as a glass ball, a big crystal. He had heard of crystal gazers.

The Swami concentrated his stare upon the crystal and remained rigid for an interminable period of time. Presently he began muttering in cryptic sentences and bent closer over the spheroid. A wonderful transformation took place on the white surface and took definite shape. The colors all were dark—red, blue and black—but a legible painting materialized, nevertheless.

Speed strained his eyes trying to catch a glimpse of the fingers that were doing the work. No brush, no paint, no hands were visible, and yet the painting continued to grow. This was devilish uncanny. A miracle was being performed and there sat the Hindu in plain view, with his hands occupied holding the crystal. Obviously he could not be painting the picture. And if an accomplice were executing this work, would not his hand be visible or even a trick brush could be seen as it worked back and forth.

The Hindu had claimed to be a prophet of the superworld. His explanation would be simple. He would say the painting had been made by spirit hands.

The work of art was completed. Speed was so astounded that he could do nothing but stare. There was an exact replica of the Lake Merritt painting he had seen in Quist's study. It was the Lake Merritt of Quist's dreams, idealized, transformed into a beautiful Riviera, covered with pleasure craft, surrounded by brilliantly illuminated hotels, covered by

A Thanksgiving Dinner

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

ON the day before his first Thanksgiving away from home, Murray Thayer opened a large box and spread out on his two chairs and tiny table enough food for five strong men. He pictured the annual dinners back in Merlowville with all the cousins and uncles and aunts, the ride into the country, often on runners, the laughter and the cheer. It was like the time to remember him, he thought, only it made him more homesick than ever.

"Must be they think I have a lot of friends who can help me out this," he said to himself.

"Maybe, if I went out in the hall and asked the first three or four who came in they'd be glad to help me," he thought.

He looked out of the window at a little unpainted house which backed against an alley fence and had an inspiration. He would take a Thanksgiving dinner to the woman and the little girl who lived there, the woman who took in washing and the girl who helped her wheel the baskets to and fro.

"I don't want to ask them, but they look as if they might be able to help me out."

Early in the evening Murray, his Thanksgiving dinner packed in a basket, knocked at the door of the small house. A young woman, one he had never seen before, a startled girl, plainly dressed, opened the door.

"Excuse me," stammered the young man, who could not see himself offering food to this girl.

"I didn't know you lived just as I have had all this stuff sent to me, and I thought the lady and the little girl might consent to help me eat it. He blamed himself for bothering the explanation and stumbled on. "You are not offended, are you?"

The young woman's smile was his reward. "I think it was very kind of you," she said. "Suppose we set the table and surprise them when they return. They have gone out after—after a washing."

The girl found a tablecloth and dishes and placed the food which Murray unpacked in a tempting and dainty array. When the task was finished there was an awkward pause. Murray wondered now if he would be invited to stay.

"And you?" he asked. "I have not seen you before, and my window is right over there. Are you perhaps home on a visit? And will you invite me to dinner?"

"To be sure you are invited. It's your dinner, you know. And yes, I am here on a visit." She hesitated. "Sit down and wait just a minute. I am going out just as they are coming. Wait, please."

Murray Thayer sat and looked at the Thanksgiving dinner. He was not going to eat alone, after all. And this girl was very pretty. He wondered a bit at her sudden departure and why she let her mother and sister go out for the washing. In a moment she was back.

"Quick, mister, we've a lot of work to do," she ordered, hastening into the kitchen. "Here, take those boxes out, and that chair. She was setting places for four more."

"You won't be offended, I know, when I tell you I have invited the family on the other side of the alley, a woman and three children. She was making more room on the table."

"I think it is fine," Murray replied doubtfully. "but—will there be enough?"

The girl pointed to a basket by the door.

"There seems to be more food in that," she said carelessly, "and I suppose it might as well be eaten. Her eyes were dancing as they met the surprised gaze of the young man."

"Would you mind telling me," Murray asked as they held the new-found basket between them, "what you are?"

"I came here with a basket just as you did," said the girl, "and you almost frightened me away. There was no need of your two dinners to one family, so I invited the neighbors. You see I've been here before. It is going to be a whole lot better for every one this way."

Murray Thayer and Ellen knew it was then that loneliness disappeared from their lives and a beginning of happiness came with the food, the warmth, the love. Perhaps there was something of prophecy in his reply:

"Indeed it is!" he said fervently.

Tomorrow—Planning a Home. (Copyright, 1922.)

Today was the big day. When I had milked the cow and strained the milk, my mother was making some cake and pumpkin pie and a lot of things and she gave me the bowls and a wooden spoon to scrape them with, but I found out I could scrape with my finger a lot better and quicker. Then when everything good was in the oven Yonnie came with her slay and asked me to go sliding with her, and my mother said for me to run along and play. Then Yonnie said she would have to go home and ask her mother, so we took hold of hands and ran all the way. Her mother said she might, and gave us each a pear, but we put them in our pockets to save them till after dinner, because when a fella is going to have turkey for dinner he don't want a pear or anything to get in the way.

When we got back and got our slays and went down to the pond and the bunch were there, and the Lost Bag of Trips has got a piece of plaster all the way across his upper lip and out quite a ways on both sides so that it looks like a white mustache. He let us look at it and he showed us his lip, and it is sewed up with silver wire. He is as proud of it as if he had bit his lip on purpose. We had a pretty good time, and I went home three times to see if dinner was ready yet, but it was not ready till Yonnie was both feeling 'c'at skin' by then.

When we were setting down my ant ased me "Thomas Ardisides, what are you thankful for," I said: "I am thankful that Yonnie is here and that we have got a turkey and that you and Annabelle Lee are not twins." Then I saw my father scowling and waiting till I got done, so he could land on me, and I said: "And I am thankful I have got such a kind father, and such a nice mother and lots of pumpkin pie and a lot of things." Then my father looked pleased and my grandfather asked the blessing, because he knows more Bible words than any of the others, which he uses differently when he falls down the steps on anything. And then my father helped Yonnie first

Before the day was over three of my acquaintances picked up with me, my wife took all the money to buy presents with, and I was left with a headache. My son-in-law came to stay with me over the holidays, and I received a Yuletide message from a grocer which read: "Merry Christmas! Please remit!"

CITY MANAGER PLAN OPPOSED FOR BERKELEY

Councilman Heywood Tells of Extra Cost in School Department.

BERKELEY, Nov. 30.—Berkeley already has all the advantages of a city manager form of government in an administrative way, Councilman Charles D. Heywood told a meeting last night at the high school auditorium arranged for the discussion of the form of government of the city.

Heywood debated with City Manager C. E. Hickok of Alameda, who pointed to Alameda's accounting system which safeguards city funds, its double platform system in the fire department, its planning commission and other things as advantages of the city manager form of government.

In reply Heywood declared that Berkeley had led the way in most of the things which Hickok had pointed out and had boasted these advantages for many years.

The sensation of the meeting came when Hickok declared that the Berkeley board of education had already exemplified the advantages of the city manager plan by appointing Clyde Blanchard as business manager, leaving the superintendent of schools H. B. Wilson free for administrative duties.

PLAN STEEL COSTLY.

"I'm glad you brought that up," declared Heywood in reply. "Have you reckoned the cost of this new building out and had the board of education under the old plan administered by former Superintendent M. C. James the salaries in the administrative end of the board of education were but $3000 a year? Do you know that the salaries under the business manager system the present plan for the same duties are $33,254 a year? Can anyone ask that the results achieved warrant the extra expenditure?"

Heywood supplemented his statement with a comparison of figures showing the salaries paid and other expenses under the James and Wilson regimes.

HAS ALL ADVANTAGES.

"Berkeley at the present time has all the administrative advantages of the city manager plan," Heywood further said. "I will admit that we are lacking in a legislative way. But whether or not you have success in the city manager plan of government or in any other plan does not depend so much on the kind of government but upon the men elected. Even Alameda with its so-called perfect form of government had to call a policeman to a recent council meeting to keep order."

Hickok declared that the city manager plan was the only true business form of government in existence, and insured almost 100 per cent efficiency. While not claiming extravagant savings in taxes, he declared that more efficient service was rendered the city for the money expended.

Kellogg Van Winkle, chairman of the chamber of commerce committee, presided. About 150 persons attended the meeting, a general discussion following the talk.

LUNCHEON WILL INAUGURATE RED SEAL CAMPAIGN

1000 Invitations Sent Out For Gathering to Be Held Tuesday.

The sale of 5,000,000 Christmas seals in Alameda county will be formally launched at a brilliant luncheon at which will assemble several hundred prominent men and women at Hotel Oakland on Tuesday. Directors of the Alameda County Tuberculosis Association have sent out 1000 invitations for the inauguration of the campaign for the attendance of all those who are giving support to the organized movement in the interest of public health.

Mrs. Annie Florence Brown is president of the society carrying on the penny seal distribution with Mrs. Wallace M. Alexander, county campaign chairman.

The proceeds from the holiday drive will be appropriated to building the first unit of structures at Del Valle Farm, the forty-five acres purchased near Livermore from the profits of the 1921 Christmas Seal Sale that undernourished children in whom tuberculosis is not active may have a chance to overcome the tendency by means of proper diet, rest and general supervision.

FEATURES AT LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Alexander will be chairman at the Tuesday luncheon for which many unique features of entertainment finding inspiration in the Christmas Seal are being arranged. Max Horwinski and Mrs. Walter Leimert will contribute to the hour's program.

Dr. Roy Lenman Wilbur, president of the American Medical Society and head of Stanford University will be the principal speaker. The Franklin Theater Orchestra will furnish music throughout the luncheon. Details of the event which will inaugurate a county-wide drive are being planned by a committee of the social leaders of the Eastbay.

The 1922 Christmas Seal Sale is being supported by a committee of 100 prominent men, to whom the opportunity of giving a child a chance to attain health and self-supporting citizenship makes a universal plea. In this number are: Edison Adams, W. R. Altberger, Wallace Alexander, N. W. Armstrong, William J. Baeus, Edgar H. Barber, Lee Berthillon, Louis J. Boudier, R. C. Bickerman, P. E. Bowles, A. W. Wife Asks Court To Set Aside Deeds

Amending her suit for separate maintenance from Jennie Barnett, whom she married in San Francisco, December 12, 1921, Mrs. Bertha Barnett charges her husband with dealing several pieces of Oakland property to his children by a former marriage in exchange for a life interest, so as to defraud her.

In the original complaint, Mrs. Barnett charges her husband with neglect and with deserting her on July 28 last, while they were residing at 1748 Sutter street, San Francisco. The children of Barnett made co-defendants in the suit are Guselle Solomon, Jennie Dunham, Mae Syler, Beatrice Feldman and L. Feldman. The suit asks that the deeds be set aside.

Horseman Dies in Duel With Tenant

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 30.—Mose M. Wall, prominent horseman residing ten miles northwest of Franklin, Ky., was killed at his home last night by Nat Mundy, a tenant on the Wall place, according to reports here. Mrs. Wall was away from home and was expected on a train at 9 o'clock last night. Wall instructed John Carter, another tenant, to meet Mrs. Wall's train and Mundy also went to the station, but Wall resented his presence there and a heated discussion followed the party's return. Both men, it is said, reached for their pistols. Wall was standing at the head of the stairs and Mundy was at the bottom. Mundy fired. It is said Wall was killed instantly. Mundy surrendered.

Widow Wins Fight For $20,000 Estate

Mrs. Carrie Spencer, widow of the late James H. Spencer, is thankful today over the decision annulling the will of her late husband to be genuine and admitting it to probate.

Allice Newman, sister of the deceased, declared the will was a forgery and laid claim to the $20,000 estate of Spencer. She was supported in her contention by Chas. McCovern, handwriting expert, who declared that the document had been forged.

Judge Robinson decided otherwise and admitted the will to probate.

Accident Commission Will Take Up Mine Safety Orders

A set of tentative mine fire control safety orders will be considered for adoption by the Industrial State Accident Commission, at a public hearing to be held by the Commission at 10 a. m. December 7, in room 323 Underwood Building, San Francisco.

The nature of the proposed safety orders indicates that they have been largely influenced by the Argonaut mine disaster.

In this connection, the orders provide that:

"Each mine shall be provided with one or more places of refuge suitably located and protected from gas or fire by permanent fire doors and provided with telephones and compressed air lines, equipped with suitable valves and outlets, and connected with both the main and second exit telephone and air lines. Such places shall contain materials ready for use in making the fire doors airtight, such as cement, clay, oakum, etc. Such places shall be further provided with water sufficient for refuge purposes. The water must be changed at reasonable intervals to keep it fresh.

"Where connections have been established between adjoining mines for emergency exit purposes, duplicate bulkheads and doors shall be provided near point of connection, and each mine shall provide a telephone between the bulkhead doors. Compressed air lines equipped with locked valves shall be run from the compressed air system of each mine to the space between the bulkhead doors, but need not be interconnected.

"A surface fire alarm consisting of a siren or equivalent device shall be installed and used for the purpose of giving a general fire alarm at the surface when fires are reported in the surface plant or underground. As a means of informing the underground workers of the presence of a fire, mines which are equipped with a compressed air system shall install a method of starch warning, and, in addition, shall establish a general danger signal by flashes or distinct interruptions of the electrical lighting current or by telephone or gongs. Where compressed air lines, electric lights and telephones are not available, an electrical or mechanical fire alarm system of approved type shall be installed underground.

"The proposed Safety Orders also provides that timbered mine stations and shafts, emergency exits, etc., shall be protected against fire by treatment with a fireproofing process. Where this is not feasible, pipe systems for the spraying or sprinkling of shaft timbers, must be installed. Special fire protection and fire fighting equipment is also ordered.

"Provision is also made for the inspection of the shafts and workings by foremen and shift bosses, and for the installation of special ventilation and emergency fire doors.

Sets of oxygen breathing apparatus must also be placed at strategic points, it is ordered.

LETTERS BEGIN IN TRIBUNE SUNDAY

Discussions in World-War Crisis Told in Humorous, Philosophical Vein.

The TRIBUNE will begin publication Sunday of one of the most interesting features yet offered to its readers. The title of the new feature which will run in daily installments is "The Franklin K. Lane Letters and Diaries." These letters have an especial significance in that they were the storm-center of the Lane-Danahoe-Radfield-Sims controversies which recently created such a stir.

One of the outstanding features of these letters and diaries is their frankness. Lane laid bare some of the most intimate details of political life in this country during the crisis into which the late war plunged this nation and most of the other principal nations of the earth.

While the import of many of these letters may be taken as almost sinister in its significance, the documents are written largely in a philosophically humorous vein which indicates the ability of Lane to retain his mental poise in the midst of turmoil and dissension.

The chief of staff might slip through conferences of vital importance to the country and the world, and innumerable obstacles to a progressive policy might block Lane's path, but he could record them in a way that could bring a laugh to the reader without veiling their real significance.

One of the important issues touched upon in these letters was the question of conveying ships. Lane's account of the discussions on this particular question was largely responsible for a nationwide controversy involving men high in official life.

Especially significant attaches to the publication of Lane's letters in the TRIBUNE from the fact that Lane formerly was an Oakland resident and was at one time employed as an Oakland newspaperman.

TOLED IN FIGURES OF APPRAISERS

Condemnation Estimates Give Basis of Downtown Prices.

For the information of citizens interested in the value of downtown properties, City Attorney Jacob E. Gray today compiled a synopsis of the superior court testimony concerning properties condemned for the opening of Fifteenth street from Franklin to Webster.

The testimony, it is admitted, is conflicting; but between high and low figures the city attorney says he believes that the real values lie. The experts testifying include real estate men such as Willard White, Frank J. Woodward, A. H. Breed, Herman Rittigstein, F. E. Porter, D. W. LaFortune, R. W. Kittrelle, James F. Pedgrift and G. S. Meredith.

The properties, with the various values appraised thereon by different experts, are as follows:

Thomas S. Williams property, Franklin at Fifteenth, 35x150: $82,687, $91,815, $50,850, $73,500.

William Havens office property, Franklin at Fifteenth, 23 feet by 150: $37,500, $50,000, $45,000.

Myron Harris property, Harrison at Fifteenth, 40 by 150 feet: $23,850, $17,537, $16,593, $15,600.

Y. W. C. A. property, Franklin street, 30 by 150: $30,000, $19,500, $21,000, $18,000.

Addie E. White property, White Garage, Webster street, 30 by 150: $23,750, $31,237, $32,723, $17,550, $19,987.

M. E. Patton property, Webster street, 30 by 150: $32,725, $19,327, $20,525, $17,550.

Frances Kehnlein property, north of White property, 30 by 150: $35,200, $21,762, $36,500, $18,150, $19,662, $15,426.

Frank Guardian property, Harrison street, 25 by 150, $12,160, $13,484, $16,006, $9,112.

The low values, without exception were made by Porter, LaFortune and Kittrelle, appraisers for the city, while the higher values are by the appraisers for the property owners.

4584 Students 10 Be Graduated And Promoted

Increase in Public Schools To Be At Usual Ratio, Says Report.

Promotions and graduations in the Oakland school department are expected to increase over past years at about the usual ratio for Oakland, according to statistics just filed by the superintendent of schools which shows that 4584 students are expected to achieve higher rank during the two semesters of the 1922-23 school year.

The expected promotions and graduations are tabulated as follows:

1922, June—Eighth grade promotions, 1546; high school graduations, 672; junior high graduations, 264. Total, 2482.

1922-23, January—Eighth grade promotions, 1380; high school graduations, 336; junior high graduations, 326. Total, 2102. Total for year, 4584.

The 1921 total was 2322 and the 1920 figure was 2122. This, according to school officials, shows a steady increase of about 700 promotions and graduations per year over the previous year.

Tribune Thanked By Disabled Veterans

Editor THE TRIBUNE:—At this time the officers and members of Oakland Chapter No. 7, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, take the opportunity to express our sincere appreciation for the co-operation and assistance extended by you in our recent "Forget-Me-Not" drive, to obtain funds in order that our work of assisting men disabled in the World War and their immediate families might be carried on.

It is gratifying to know that we have so many good friends in Alameda county. You may be assured that without this co-operation the campaign would not have resulted in such a grand success.

Thanking you again, personally, I remain

Sincerely yours,
E. M. LAWRENCE,
Director "Forget-Me-Not" Drive.
